

Plane Carries Neutrality Act To President To Beat Deadline

Congress Speeds Action To Supplant Tem- porary Law

VICTORY FOR HULL

Senate Follows House in Accepting Compromise Plan

Washington—(AP)—Congress, winning a race against time, supplanted a temporary neutrality law today with a statute broadening restrictions against trade with warring nations.

Leaders decided to rush the new measure by plane to President Roosevelt vacationing on the gulf coast for signature before the present act expires tomorrow.

The bill represented a partial victory for Secretary of State Hull and his associates who long have advocated greater discretionary powers for the president in administering this country's neutrality policy.

Congressional action was completed late yesterday when the senate by a vote of 41 to 15 accepted a compromise measure to which the house already had agreed. Senator Borah of Idaho was the only Republican who voted for the agreement.

Sensors Vandenberg (R-Mich.) and Johnson (R-Calif.) led the opposition.

Vandenberg Objection

"The bill transfers a considerable portion of the war making powers of congress to the president," said Vandenberg, objecting to the discretionary provisions of the measure which would involve the nation in war to keep it neutral.

Senator Robinson (D-Ark.), leading the supporters of the bill said the constitution gave to the president rather than congress the authority to conduct foreign relations.

The principal change from the present law is the so-called "cash and carry" provision, which authorizes an entirely new aspect of American neutrality policy. Operation of this section is limited to two years.

Under it the president at his discretion may apply certain limitations to the export of war materials to belligerents as well as prohibit outright the shipment to them of arms, ammunition and implements of war.

Shipping Restrictions

American merchant vessels will be prohibited from transporting to belligerents any commodities or materials which the president may designate. American sellers of such goods will be required to relinquish all title to the wares before they leave the country.

Thereby, would-be purchasers will be compelled to pay cash for such goods and transport them in their own or other foreign ships. Present restrictions continue against Americans traveling on belligerent vessels.

Further discretion is given the president in prescribing exceptions to the "cash and carry" feature as it might apply to Canada and Mexico.

Profiting by this government's neutrality experience in connection with the Spanish revolution congress made the new act applicable to both sides in a civil conflict.

Because of the lack of such a provision in the present law, a special statute to cover the Spanish situation was rushed through in January.

Jurors Dismissed in False Pretenses Case

Janesville—(AP)—Unable to reach an agreement after 24 hours, a circuit court jury heard the case of John Gregg, 54, Rockford, charged with obtaining about $13,000 under false pretenses, was discharged by Judge Jesse Earle at 11:30 p. m. Thursday.

Gregg, in jail since last Christmas, will remain there in default of bond until the November term of court here.

He is charged with swindling two Rock county residents in the promotion of a central heating plant in Belvidere, Ill.

Milwaukee Firm Granted Verdict For $2,000,000

Federal Jury Makes Award In Suit Launched In 1921

Portland, Me.—(AP)—A federal court jury gave a $2,000,000 verdict last night to the Jenkins Petroleum Process company, Milwaukee, in its $5,000,000 breach of contract action against the Sinclair Refining Co., incorporated in Maine.

The litigation, in various courts since 1921, had been in process of trial here a month. The jury deliberated 32 hours.

A petroleum "cracking" process invented by the late Ulysses S. Jenkins 20 years ago was the basis of the suit.

The plaintiff contended that it entered into a contract with the Cudahy company, now the Sinclair company, whereby the Jenkins company should be given the benefit of any discoveries resulting from improvement of the Jenkins process.

At about the same time, the plaintiff contended, Sinclair engineers conducted a successful experiment based on the Jenkins process, and the dispute was whether results of the experiment belonged to the Jenkins company or the Sinclair company.

The defense contended that the Jenkins process, claiming 100 per cent conversion of crude oil into gasoline, was a "practical impossibility" and that Jenkins' backers had "high-pressed" the Cudahy officials into a false and misleading contract.

Denhardt Defense Summons Experts

Tries to Prove Contention Mrs. Taylor Took Her Own Life

New Castle, Ky.—(AP)—Launching their scientific testimony designed to offset the commonwealth's evidence, counsel for Brigadier General Henry H. Denhardt today produced a witness who declared experiments indicated Mrs. Verha Gray Taylor committed suicide and another who testified paraffin did not always prove effective.

The defense experts began taking the stand in the Denhardt murder trial today following yesterday's long recital by Denhardt in which he denied killing his comely fiancée and said she had spoken to him of a suicide pact. Denhardt declared the Blue Grass widow was agitated over jealousy of Chester Woolfolk, 25, laundry driver, Commonwealth's Attorney H. B. Kinsolving indicated he would call Woolfolk to deny this.

Major Seth Ward of Washington, former FBI expert, told the jury today his experiments showed Denhardt's army pistol was close to the woman's body when the fatal shot was fired. His testimony was brought to bolster the suicide theory.

R. C. Sherberg of Chicago, Cook county chemist, followed Ward and declared paraffin tests of a person's hands sometimes were negative even if that person had recently fired a weapon. The commonwealth experts had testified paraffin tests proved Mrs. Taylor had not fired a weapon shortly before her body was found the night of last Nov. 6.

Wins Suspended Term In Securities Sale Case

Milwaukee—(AP)—Municipal Judge Max W. Nohl gave a two years suspended sentence in Waupun today to George I. Brooks, Minnneapolis salesman, charged with securities dealings in securities in Wisconsin without a license.

Brooks was arrested in New York on the complaint of Herman Eggert, 88-year-old Milwaukeean. Eggert said he gave Brooks securities with a market value of $2500 in return for a promise of oil well royalties. Eggert received no royalties, he said. The court stayed sentence for two years after Brooks said he had made a settlement of $1300 with Eggert. The suspended sentence carried the proviso Eggert never again sell oil royalties here.

Final Ballot Next Week on Budget Bill

Single Change in Measure Made During Long Senate Session

TAKE 115 ROLL CALLS

Futile Attempt Made to Win Final Passage Thursday Evening

Madison—(AP)—The weary senate adjourned at 3:32 a. m. today after advancing the $65,000,000 executive budget bill past the amendable stage with but one change, in a stormy all-day and night session.

A final vote will come next week, after which the measure will go back to the assembly for concurrence in the single amendment.

Administration forces kept the house in session continuously for 13 hours and a half following the noon recess yesterday. Including the morning session of two hours and a half, the senators answered 115 roll calls, surpassing the record of 101 in the recent marathon battle over the Severson labor disputes act.

Of the 46 amendments presented, only that by Senator Fred Risser (P), Madison, was adopted, earmarking an additional $950,000 for the emergency board for use in increasing appropriations to needy departments.

Preferred Claim

Risser said the amendment was made imperative by the assembly action tacking on a preferred claim of $7,000,000 for pensions and school aids to be paid from any increased revenues after the $46,000,000 of specific appropriations are met.

By a vote of 19 to 13, the senators gave their approval to the principle of flexibility which will require $11,000,000 in additional taxes if the full appropriations desired by Governor LaFollette are to be paid.

The roll call on advancing the bill to the final stage:

For the bill—Anderson, Busby, Cashman, Engstrom, Hampel, Ingram, Kunnenberg, Kresley, Leve, McDermid, Panzer, Paulson, Risser, Rowlands, Rush, Severson, Progressives—16; Nelson and Shearer, Republicans; Zimny, Democrat, Total, 19.

Against the bill—Bolens, Callan, Clancy, Dempsey, Galasinski, Morrissey, Sauld, Schoenecker, Democrats, Total, 13.

Found Guilty of Drunken Driving

Arresting Officer Tells of Blood Test Findings By Physician

Ray Egger, route 1, Appleton, who pleaded not guilty of drunken driving when he was arraigned in municipal court Tuesday morning, today was found guilty by the court and fined $50 and costs with an alternative of 90 days in the county detention camp.

Egger was arrested on Highway 10 west of Appleton, Wis., early Tuesday morning.

But claimed he had had only two beers. The arresting officer told the court, however, that a physician gave Egger a blood test at the county jail shortly after the arrest was made and that the test showed the defendant was substantially under the influence of intoxicants.

Green Bay—(AP)—Fingers were crossed and knuckles tapped desks in the police department today as Green Bay completed six months without a traffic fatality—the first period of that length without an automobile death in many years.

Inspector H. J. Bero attributed the clean record to a number of factors: one of them the establishment of an accident prevention and investigation bureau, designed to ascertain and eliminate causes of accidents. Others were the cooperation of all members of the police department in enforcing traffic laws and opposing unsafe practices; better education of pedestrians, through teaching them to wait and not cross streets against the traffic lights, or otherwise engage in dangerous practices; and finally, a more active "safety consciousness" brought about by lectures in schools, radio programs, newspapers and other available methods.

Attempt to Speed Committee Action On Court Program

Leaders Would Force Action Despite Unfavorable Outlook

Washington—(AP)—Administration leaders endeavored today to speed a senate judiciary committee vote on the Roosevelt court bill despite the prospect of an unfavorable outcome.

Roosevelt chieftains, claiming sufficient votes in the senate to pass the bill, even in the face of an adverse committee report, expressed displeasure at the agreement to delay the committee decision until May 18.

Some opposition leaders also expressed a willingness to advance the date in view of the present 10-8 committee lineup against the bill.

Chairman Ashurst (D-Ariz.) said, however, he would oppose any change in the voting. Senator Kings (D-Utah), a foe of the court measure, hinted at an effort to keep it from reaching the senate even with an adverse recommendation.

Opponents, particularly Democratic ones, have predicted an offer of compromise from the administration or a withdrawal of the bill, in view of the unfavorable committee lineup. But there was no sign of either, on the surface, in the administration camp.

Ashurst and other friends of the bill insist the adverse announcements by three committee members earlier this week had not changed the bill's prospects in the senate.

One administration senator said the bill would get today the votes of at least 50 of the 95 senators.

Some committee members expressed the belief that by the time the committee meets again Monday, President Roosevelt will have indicated whether he might accept any modification.

$260,000 Fire Loss at
S. St. Paul Stockyards

South St. Paul, Minn.—(AP)—Trade at the South St. Paul stockyards continued virtually uninterrupted today despite a fire that destroyed $260,000 worth of sheep sheds and pens last night.

Thomas E. Good, president of the stockyards company, who estimated the loss, said work of rebuilding the sheds would begin immediately. He added trade would not be hampered materially.

The blaze, when discovered had gained such headway that five St. Paul engine companies had to be called to aid the local fire fighters. The fire was quelled when it reached open cattle pens, soaked by recent rains. About 100 sheep were lost.

Two Carpenters Unhurt

Stevens Point—(AP)—Two carpenters, Frank Sobczak and Carl Kunde, fell 40 feet but escaped with bruises yesterday when the wind toppled a frame hoisting tower on the high school construction project.

The men clung to the top of the structure and landed on a pile of loose sand a few feet from a large rock pile. The tower crashed against a concrete mixer and collapsed.

Kentucky Sheriff Admits He Knew Two Deputies Shot Third Officer

Washington—(AP)—Sheriff Theodore Middleton of Harlan county, Ky., testified today he knew two of his deputies had shot and left for dead another deputy, Hugh Taylor.

Taylor has testified he was attacked after he protested against the slaying of the 19-year-old son of a union organizer.

The chief law enforcement officer of the Kentucky coal county testified before the LaFollette civil liberties committee Deputies Wash Irvin and Frankie White "gave me the guns" with which they shot Taylor on the night of Feb. 22.

Neither White nor Irvin was displaced under the sheriff's force or missed under arrest. Middleton added, although a warrant was later sworn out charging them with the offense.

Accused of 'Frustrating' Efforts to Retain Unity in Movement

Milwaukee—(AP)—Emil Costello, Kenosha, state chairman of the C. I. O. provisional committee, was suspended late yesterday as a member of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor executive board by unanimous vote of nine board members who attended a closed meeting.

Costello, a state assemblyman, did not appear before the board to answer five formal charges made against him by a special committee. The executive board voted 9 to 1 on March 6 that he resign or stand trial. Costello declined to resign.

Kenosha Suspended as Member of Executive Body of Federation

VOTE IS UNANIMOUS

Accused of 'Frustrating' Efforts to Retain Unity in Movement

Milwaukee—(AP)—Emil Costello, Kenosha, state chairman of the C. I. O. provisional committee, was suspended late yesterday as a member of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor executive board by unanimous vote of nine board members who attended a closed meeting.

Costello, a state assemblyman, did not appear before the board to answer five formal charges made against him by a special committee. The executive board voted 9 to 1 on March 6 that he resign or stand trial. Costello declined to resign.

In a statement announcing its decision, the board declared efforts of the state federation "to retain unity within the labor movement in Wisconsin have been 'frustrated' by Costello."

The statement declared the charges were "fully sustained" on the "basis of the evidence brought before the board."

Costello, in a statement to the board, declared he was unable to attend "your so-called trial" because, he said, he was "busy helping conduct strikes at Bucyrus-Erie and other plants and organizing the unorganized."

"Verdict In Bag"

"I already have been illegally suspended without a hearing by the general executive board," he continued. "Since the same nine old men who were my prosecutors then are going to be my judges today, I can't see any use in attending. Everybody knows the verdict is already in the bag."

Present at the meeting held at the executive offices of the state federation of labor were: Henry Ohl and John J. Handley, president and secretary respectively; Arnold Zander, Madison; George J. Schneider, Appleton; Raymond A. Rich, Wisconsin Rapids; Assemblyman David Sigman, Two Rivers; William H. Sommers, Racine; J. F. Friedrich and Walter Zechel, both of Milwaukee.

Board members absent were Roy Shaw and Fred Gastrow, both of Milwaukee.

U. S. Chamber Opposed To Judiciary Program

Washington—(AP)—The United States Chamber of Commerce, declaring the judiciary must remain independent, was on record today in opposition to the president's reorganization proposal.

The organization of business men also instructed its officers, in resolutions adopted at the close of its annual convention yesterday, to urge legislation to "establish responsibility for the acts of labor organizations."

It declared the Wagner labor relations act should be amended to define "labor practices which are unlawful when engaged in by employers, employers or other persons."

George H. Davis, Kansas City grain dealer, was elected president after Harper Sibley of Rochester, N. Y., refused a third term.

First Lady Fails to Maintain Incognito

San Francisco—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who started out with an incognito and a lapful of knitting of an airplane trip to pay a surprise visit to her daughter in Seattle, dropped both today to take an auto ride across the San Francisco-Oakland bay bridge.

The incognito, "Mrs. Schider," failed to conceal her identity any farther west than Chicago. However, she kept the knitting until the airplane landed here last night.

Mrs. Roosevelt's daughter, Mrs. John Boettiger, wife of the publisher of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, has been in California on a business trip with her husband. They planned to join her here and fly north.

CRUSHED TO DEATH

Crandon, Wis.—(AP)—Newton Achley, 45, was crushed to death today beneath the box on a truck when the hydraulic lift failed. The accident occurred at the Forest county highway shop.

Is it your habit to keep as deputies men who have committed crimes of violence?" inquired Senator LaFollette (P-Wis.).

"Well, as a rule we don't dismiss them until they are convicted," the sheriff replied, smiling.

He asserted that he had "investigated" and "knew that they shot Taylor" but would not testify against them before the grand jury "unless I am subpoenaed."

Taylor had told the committee previously Irvin and White shot him five times on a lonely mountain road and left him, apparently dead, in a ditch.

Their reason, he charged, was that he had refused to help them "shoot up" the home of Marshall A. ...

Pickets Active as Strike at Oshkosh Shuts Five Plants

Two Men Arraigned as Result of Disorder at Stevens Point

Oshkosh—(AP)—A. F. of L. union pickets paraded in front of five large woodworking plants today in the first strike in that industry in the "sawdust city" since 1898.

Night crews were called out and arrangements made for 24-hour picket patrols last night after members of the Carpenters' and Joiners' union voted 1,238 to 35 in favor of the strike.

The union claims almost 100 per cent membership of woodworkers in the plants, the Morgan and McMiller companies, the Oshkosh Mill Works, the Foster-Lothman company and the Radford company.

These five plants form the backbone of industry in Oshkosh where the wood and lumber business has been predominant since the city's founding. Union officials predicted the strike would tie up the whole city by next week unless a settlement was reached.

Workers demanded wage scale ranging from 50 to 67 cents an hour, a 40-hour five-day week and double time for holiday work.

2 APPEAR IN COURT

Stevens Point—(AP)—Two men were arraigned late yesterday before County Judge W. F. Owen on charges resulting from Tuesday's disorder at the strikers' Lullaby Furniture corporation—plant during which 37 non-union employees were ejected forcibly by strike pickets.

Mike Kallinowski and Florian Falkiewicz pleaded innocent to charges of assault and battery and assault with intent to do great bodily harm while armed with a dangerous weapon. Bail bonds of $500 each were furnished.

Three others have been named in warrants on similar charges, and another on only an assault and battery count.

Acting district attorney Royal Galvin said a blanket warrant charging 25 men with unlawful assembly.

Mediation Plan Up in Michigan

Measure Intended to Provide Permanent Machinery in Labor Disputes

Lansing, Mich.—(AP)—An administration measure designed to establish permanent mediation machinery to deal with labor difficulties and to give the state government broad power to meet emergencies was before the legislature today.

Its major objective was to put mediation ahead of strikes and lockouts. The bill was accompanied by a special message to the legislature from Governor Murphy urging that minimum wage, maximum hour and occupational disease legislation be enacted to give workers greater rights.

"The public wants industrial peace," Murphy said. "So does the employer. So do the employees. If we are to eliminate the outworn methods of violence and terrorism and achieve a normalcy of peace and progress, government must lead the way."

The basic provision of the administration measure bans both strikes and lockouts until negotiation has been attempted.

A three-member state board of industrial relations would be appointed by the governor. The chairman would receive $7,500 a year and other members $7,000. Notice would have to be served upon the board by either employer or labor organization before a strike or lock-out could be called. Failure to do so would be a violation of the act. The violation, however, would be a misdemeanor, with comparatively light penalties.

Engine Trouble Aboard Presidential Destroyer

New Orleans—(AP)—A radio report to temporary White House headquarters here today said the destroyer Moffett carrying President Roosevelt on his fishing vacation was cruising in the Gulf after developing slight engine trouble near the mouth of the Mississippi river last night.

The message said the new 1,830-ton destroyer developed a clogged oil line and put in at Pilot Point in the mouth of the river shortly before 10 o'clock p. m.

The trouble was remedied and the Moffett got under way again early this morning. She was expected to transfer the president to the U. S. S. Potomac sometime during the day.

Note Says Revenge Motive in Murder Of Chicago Roomer

Chicago—(AP)—Alvin Giselson, 30, a carpenter whose scant library showed him interested in economic and religious subjects, was found bludgeoned to death in his room today beside a note purporting to show he was slain for revenge.

Pencilled on blue lined paper, the note read:

"He went the way of all rats. God bless him. Revenge from a victim."

Police said a blood smeared towel had been thrust in the dead man's mouth. His head had been battered on the back and the left temple. Medical examiners estimated he had been dead at least 12 hours, and possibly two days when his landlady found the body on her weekly visit to clean the room.

Lack of knowledge about Giselson's recent movement delayed the police investigation.

Doubt Economies Will Cut Budget Of Current Year

Washington—(AP)—Fiscal experts predicted today President Roosevelt's appeal for extra economies in government between now and July 1 would have little effect in whitening the current fiscal year's budget below $7,781,000,000.

Department heads must reply by tomorrow to a recent letter from the president asking what savings they can effect by "eliminating or deferring all expenditures which are not absolutely necessary."

That letter preceded his revised budget message to congress, which slashed this year's expected spending about $250,000,000. Officials said that revision took into account some possible cuts. They expressed doubt any further reduction of importance could be made.

While the treasury awaited the departmental reports, house and senate leaders clashed over methods of reducing next year's budget.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, joined those demanding a flat cut of 10 per cent in all 1938 appropriations.

Challenge Statement

Leaders of the "economy bloc" with whom he thus associated himself challenged the declaration of Speaker Bankhead (D-Ala.) that President Roosevelt favored a proposal for leaving the responsibility for cutting costs in his hands. Representative Cannon (D-Mo.) had suggested that 15 per cent of every department's appropriation be impounded, to be released in whatever amount the president saw fit.

Senators contended the president had taken no part in the dispute over whether the cut should be made by congress or the chief executive.

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) told the senate yesterday the administration's money policy added to the difficulty of balancing the budget. He asked for "a courageous, rational and realistic realignment of the giddy gold and silver policies under which we play sucker to the world."

Hopkins Angered

"Some critics complain that the United States pays more than the world price for gold bullion. Recently, some financial experts have pressed concern over the large inflow of foreign gold into the United States."

Another economy proposal—the cutting of relief costs—drew from Harry L. Hopkins a denunciation of "people who would take food from a man in the belief he wouldn't bother."

Letters in reply to the president's request to cut current expenses will go first to the budget bureau, which will spend about a week analyzing them. In cases where no real effort has been made to cut expenditures, informed authorities said, the bureau may call in departmental officials to determine whether some reduction can be made.

Labor Federation Plans Campaign in Wisconsin

Milwaukee—(AP)—Plans for a statewide organization campaign under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor were outlined last night at a meeting of more than 300 organizers, business agents and union officers from all parts of the state.

The meeting was sponsored by the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor and the Milwaukee Federated Trades council. Henry Ohl, Jr., president of the state organization, sounded a plea for closer cooperation among craft groups in the same industries.

First Large Naval Vessel To Meet Doom From Air

BLOW TO BLOCKADE Espana Sunk by Loyal- ists During Attack On British Ship

Santander, Spain—(AP)—The government aerial bomb that sank the insurgent battleship Espana today went squarely into her single funnel and burst in her munitions magazine below decks, it was reported here tonight.

One hundred and ten members of the crew of the 16,100-ton Espana were known to have been saved by the insurgent destroyer Velasco, by government fishing boats and by armed government trawlers from Santander.

Hence, if the Espana carried her full complement of 854 officers and men, that would leave 744 unaccounted for. It was possible, however, that many of the rescued were not immediately reported.

The heavy vessel, one of the mainstays of the attempted insurgent blockade of Bilbao, plunged under the sea within sight of land, bombed squarely amidships.

The insurgent cruiser Velasco, which was supporting the Espana in an attack on a British merchant ship when the government air armada struck, picked up the officers, Government motorboats from Santander picked up the crew.

The president's planes, sent to the aid of the beleaguered Basques by the main Valencia government, struck back, at sea while insurgent armies rolled toward Bilbao's "Magnet line" of trenches from the southeast and east and while insurgent planes blasted ferociously at Bilbao's last lines of defense.

Awaits Foreign Help

Bilbao, a city of near-hysteria, awaited foreign aid for the evacuation of her 300,000 noncombatant refugees of war. (France was reported pressing for British aid at once in the rescue of half that number from the proud Basque capital on Spain's northwest coast.)

Juan Antonio Aguirre, president of the Basque autonomous republic, notified Madrid of the Espana sinking. It also was announced by the ministry of marine at Valencia.

A fleet of government bombers swarmed over the Espana, raining explosives on her. One struck squarely amidships, official sources reported, and the vessel disappeared quickly and completely beneath the waves.

It was by far the most important naval incident of the war. The 16,000-ton Espana was one of the two largest warships of the Spanish navy. The Jaime I, the other large dreadnought, has remained loyal to the Valencia government.

No Word on Casualties

Whether there were any casualties was not established. Nor was the size of the Espana's crew at the time of the bombing known in government circles.

For months the Espana had harassed the government coast line. Government planes had made numerous attempts to sink her. Early in April, she was bombed viciously off Santander by five pilots, but escaped with a captured coal boat and the next day turned her 12-inch guns on the Basque coast. Only yesterday, she wireless a warning that she would fire upon any British merchant ship venturing within Bilbao harbor.

The dramatic incident off Spain's northwestern ledge took 21 hours, from the time the British steamer Brotra was attacked to the Stepping Oak, Tenn.—(AP)—Jackson Whitlow was reported today to have broken the fast he said he began March 10 on a "call from the Lord."

The Lord told him last night to take a little water for his stomach's sake," the elder Whitlow told Mrs. Standifer when he called to get advice from the doctor.

"He said he wanted to know what to give him," Mrs. Standifer said. "He said Jackson had been very sick and had a bad night."

Dr. Standifer was away, and Whitlow left after a brief conversation with Mrs. Standifer.

The Whitlows live in an isolated community that has no telephone communication.

Fifteen youths in CCC camps in the Sparta district, in which youths from Outagamie county are enrolled, recently offered to provide blood to be used in the preparation of scarlet fever serum, according to word received at the central application bureau. A half pint was donated by each of the boys and sent to the Michael Reese hospital at Chicago.

Admission to the services will be by printed invitation only and the only "preaching" will be by Hillman himself. He is shown with his casket.

And So Pegler Becomes An Authority on Money

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—I suppose nobody knows less about the anatomy and temperament of money than I do, but there is comfort for me in the essays of my colleagues on the subject because all the arguments are based on the acceptance of a mystery. One authority said a few years ago that there were not ten men, or maybe he said not a dozen, in all the world who understood the meaning of money and I once struggled through a symposium by a group of noted experts who disagreed on the very definition of money in the opening chapter and said, in effect, "Now that we thoroughly misunderstand each other let us explain all to the public."

Today I read Hugh Johnson on gold and yesterday it was Ray Clapper who held forth on the same subject and, though the entertainment was good, I still have to wonder why, if this nation should corner all the gold down to the last grain and stick it in that hole in Kentucky, that would be a calamity to us. Obviously, the rest of the world would be broke and it is easy to understand why that would make them unhappy, but that the nation holding all the gold should also go into the streets and start popping away seems inconsistent.

And why, inasmuch as we clamored for the payment of the war debts, would it be a disaster to be avoided by force of arms if necessary, if Britain, France, Italy and all the rest of the debtors were to drop anchor in New York tomorrow with gold enough to pay the debt in full with compound interest and say, "Where do you want it unloaded?"

It has been explained to me that it would be advisable to meet those boats outside and torpedo them and I understand vaguely that a corner on gold would bail up the world's change and bring a general disaster. But if gold is so desirable that nations will fight to get all they can of it, how come any nation can have too much and how much would be enough for each in a fair distribution?

And When They Got All Through—Then What?

We have been talking about money for the last five or six years and Senator Thomas of Oklahoma, once held a sort of free-for-all in Washington, known as the council of the money nuts, at which all the wild-eyed cracker-barrel economists who could thumb their way to the national capitol rose up to sound off on monetary matters. Some of the experts were obviously dizzy and some of the plans submitted sounded like double-talk, but not even the worst of them could add anything to the normal, ordinary confusion and ignorance of the subject. Then came Cash-and-Carry Coughlin out of Detroit, explaining money in terms of religion and several million monetary followers put in a spell discussing gold, silver, deflation, reflation and inflation who couldn't even figure out the odds against big Dick or little Joe the hard way with a pair of dice.

In Italy, a year and a half ago, the women were dropping their wedding rings and gold trinkets into the laundries to raise gold for the purchase of food and war materials which Italy could not produce. The Italians insisted that there was good gold behind their money which circulated freely within their own country at the point of the bayonet, but couldn't explain why, if that were so, the same money was hardly worth its weight in soap wrappers outside.

They Got Big Wages—But It Was In Lires

A lot of Italian-Americans from the United States and Canada went back to join the Italian labor relations in Abyssinia, attracted by the comparatively high wages in paper lire which would buy simple necessities from the Italian quartermaster. But even in lire they weren't drawing as much as they could have received on relief or public work in this country and, on the basis of the gold actually behind the paper notes, they probably were doing all this for a few cents a day because, for all that the fascists said, the lire was only a wisp of paper money.

The French and the British both have dug holes like ours in Kentucky in which to store their gold and they say in Paris that their gold beneath the Bank of France is protected by a series of steel and concrete barriers deep in the earth.

Doctors Offer to Work With City on New Medical Plan

Medical Society Says Time Is Too Short to Start This Year

The Appleton Medical society today notified the city council that it is withdrawing from the discussion of reorganization of the city health department because no time is left for ironing out this problem, but suggested that a committee of three from the city be named to work with a committee of three representing the medical society to seek a plan that can be submitted to the council in plenty of time before the budget for 1938 is prepared next February.

Upon the representations of the medical society, the council some months ago adopted a plan for appointment of a physician who would be a full time health officer and city physician combined, but at a recent meeting this action was rescinded and the problem was back where it was before the discussions started. Appointment of health officer and city physician must be made tonight so that the new officers can start work tomorrow, and for that reason the medical society suggests that the discussion, so far as this year, be ended, and that a plan be worked out for the next year.

The medical society's letter to the mayor and the council signed by Dr. V. F. Marshall as president and Dr. W. J. Pawley as secretary, follows:

"The matter of City Health Officer and City Physician is a momentous question. There has been such a brief period of time for deliberation and mature discussion of this subject that a mutually satisfactory conclusion could not be reached. We are fully cognizant with existing laws pertaining to the office of City Health Officer. The Appleton Medical Society, at a recent meeting and upon general and thorough discussion of the matter, passed the following resolution:

"That the Appleton Medical Society respectfully withdraws from the present controversy relative to Health Officer and City Physician. Further, that the Appleton Medical Society wishes to assure the City Council and City Officers of our most hearty and cordial counsel in the solution of this problem."

"You will note in the passage and acceptance of this resolution by the constituent members of the Medical Society that they are hopeful and insistent that a favorable solution of this problem will be accomplished during this present year, to become operative May 1st, 1938."

"We desire to emphasize the fact, that we wholeheartedly offer our assistance in any and all deliberations pertaining to health matters and medical care as it concerns the City of Appleton and its indigent citizens. In any analysis of proposals for the rendition of medical service, the needs and requirements of the patient and affected public must be the yardstick of measurement. The welfare of the sick and protection and advancement of the public health is the basis for the practice of medicine. It must further be remembered that nothing is so personal and individualistic by its very nature as illness. Sickness affects each person differently and each demands the service that his own bodily reactions indicate to the physician, as essential to recovery."

College Students Take Debate Attitude Test

An attitude test which will be used in judging debates on the Consumers' Cooperative question is being taken by 15 Lawrence college debaters this week in cooperation with Forrest Rose, graduate student at the University of Wisconsin. The test will be used for the purpose of formulating a more exact test of attitudes of individuals less familiar with the problem than the debaters. It consists in sorting out a group of 130 statements about cooperatives to determine their relative value as affirmative or negative arguments.

This attitude test will be used in judging debates on cooperatives on the basis of charging the opinion of the audience.

Lawrence Sees Need for Study Of Job Situation

Believes Factors Blocking Employment Should Be Determined

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—How many "forgotten men" are there in the United States? The Roosevelt administration declines to count them. Various agencies of the federal government have made estimates as to the number of unemployed in America, but the so-called unemployment census, advocated in season and out of season as a first step toward handling the unemployment problem, has been tabooed by the president himself.

As a matter of fact, the president is right about it. There is no sense in taking a census of the unemployed. After the country knew how many persons are without jobs, there would not be any more information than there was the day before the compilation was announced.

Everybody knows that there are millions of unemployed, but few people know what is keeping them unemployed.

A survey to determine who and what is blocking employment would be a useful thing. Likewise a study to determine who and what is creating unemployment and adding to the army of idle persons would be even more useful. Not to be entirely negative, there might be a study made as to who and what is creating employment. What are the factors that are actually making for reemployment—these are ascertainable by an introspective study of the American economic system.

A School Might Try

It is too much to expect that any government agency would venture on such an assignment. Maybe some of the leading universities of the country, which have been standing on the side-lines throughout the depression wondering what they could do, might set out to get the facts and the truth.

Out of the many hundreds of thousands of letters that come to Washington every day might be gleaned some information. Thus, one letter I received today tells an interesting story.

"About seven years ago I put some money into a small business. It dribbled along for about two years and then began to make a little money. It made money in 1931, 1932, 1933 and 1934, broke even in 1935, and then in 1936, due to competitive conditions, lost money. All during this time none of us took any dividends out of the business. The manager, who was part-owner, worked all this period for a very small salary because we felt that all of the earnings must be put back into the business. We all felt that, if business was to build substantially, it required more capital to face competitors.

Hits Surplus Tax

"The business is not big enough to sell stock or float a bond issue. And then we took a look at the surplus tax, saw the utter futility of trying to continue to build the business out of its own earnings, and we decided to close up the company. This business started out with three employees and now it is employing 75 people who will all be out of jobs."

Undoubtedly this instance is typical of many a small business which must find capital for expansion out of its own earnings. Failing to do this, these small enterprises go to the wall, and yet every other recovery period has been characterized by the starting of many small businesses. Says my informant:

"The purpose of the surplus tax may have been laudable, but the way the law has worked out, I believe it will tend to maintain big companies in a position of permanent monopolistic security and will freeze out the little fellow."

Study Would Help

How many of these instances are there? And what other factors are blocking reemployment? These are subjects which can be determined by disinterested agencies and just now they would mean a great deal toward an understanding of public policies. The United States Employment service itself says in a recent bulletin:

"Important as it is to get a complete picture of the unemployed at a given date, it is of equal importance to secure current information with respect to the changes which are taking place."

The United States employment service is a very efficient institution and it is run by a very efficient man, W. Frank Parsons, who keeps out of the limelight and does his job. The service has just completed two very interesting studies classifying the unemployed as reflected in about 6,000,000 cases in their files. Here is an interesting paragraph of comment from one of the surveys.

"The first point to note is that the largest single group of applicants is shown as industrially 'unclassifiable'."

"It will be observed that more than half of these industrially unclassifiable applicants in both surveys had relief status. This suggests that many of the older applicants in this group have not been regularly employed for some time, perhaps for years, except on work projects and in a variety of temporary employments. Frequent shifts in the industry of employment are characteristic of these persons. About a third of the industrially unclassifiable applicants in each survey were women, including quite a large proportion of married women without recent work experience."

Farmers Seek Work

It is apparent from the same report that many farm applicants look every year for out-of-season employment to supplement farm incomes, that persons under 25 years of age are having a harder time finding jobs than persons between 25 and 45. Says the official report of the unemployment service:

"The dearth of factual information about occupations in either government publications or those of private concerns, is a surprising and serious gap in an important field. Nowhere has there been a central, unified collection of job titles, specifications, and classifications."

Should Be Current

It cost only about $350,000 to make the two recent surveys out of which has been gathered what little information about occupational classifications there is today. Merely counting the unemployed is of relatively little importance compared to finding out just who the job-seekers are. Considering that the federal government has spent about $18,000,000 for relief in the last year, it is nothing short of amazing that so little has been spent in getting facts that can be useful. There are plenty of white-collar applicants on the rolls of the United States Employment service who could help make periodic reports on what the files show as to the unemployed. This alone, when traced to industries, would constantly reflect the changes in industry. The surveys already made are valuable, but to be really useable they must be kept current. It probably would not cost $750,000 a year to find out how much damage the New Deal policies were doing to the various businesses and industries which are the subject of surgical operations and experiments by legislative devices. And it is probably not going to be done by any administration in power, but somewhere there must be disinterested agencies which will supply the funds and do the work of analyzing the shifts and changes in unemployment which are going on before our very noses from week to week and from month to month.

It is just possible also that out of the surveys and their data ways will be found to place men and women in jobs which are waiting for them but about which they may happen not to know because the machinery for bringing the applicant and the job together is not so good when the job happens to be farther away than 1,000 miles by train or bus.

Oshkosh Man Is New Commodore of Boat Association

Collector of Customs Addresses Meeting of Valley Organization

George Anderson, Oshkosh, was elected commodore of the Fox River Valley Power Boating association at a meeting at Oshkosh last night. More than 200 yachtsmen attended.

Harvey Lhost, Green Bay, was named vice-commodore; H. B. Stover, Fond du Lac, rear commodore; Lee Schiller, New London, fleet captain; Andrew Liethan, Appleton; Lieutenant captain and W. G. Raatz, Oshkosh, secretary-treasurer.

Directors are Pierce Purcell and Gene Lalier, Fond du Lac; William Clark and the Rev. William A. Reul, Oshkosh; Gilbert Neff and Elmer Renner, Neenah; Dr. A. L. Koch and Paul Stevens, Appleton; Cyrus E. Ebel and Gordon Ristau, Kaukauna; William Hawley, Green Bay; Carl Heckrodt and Joseph Conway, Menasha.

Sea Scout Ship 333, of which Dr. Loren Dickelman, Oshkosh, is skipper, gave a demonstration how a ship is set up, boarded, and the conduct of the crew. Harry Hertz, Sea Scout executive of the Twin Lakes area, discussed the work.

That the Fox river valley has almost half the boat registration in the district of Wisconsin was revealed by Henry V. Schwabach, collector of customs, Milwaukee, in a discussion of board numbering and recording regulations.

In the Wisconsin district, he said, there are close to 3,500 undocumented vessels and about 500 documented vessels on record. The Fox river valley has close to 1,500 undocumented vessels and 65 documented boats. Of the smaller craft, Oshkosh contributes 382, Green Bay 180, Neenah 171, Fond du Lac 146, Appleton 121, Menasha 100, Menasha 78, Winnebago 76 and the balance from 14 smaller places.

The act governing the regulation of motor boats has been in effect since 1910, he said. The numbering and recording act was passed by congress June 7, 1918 and was amended Aug. 5, 1935 to place the motor boats under permanent registration. Certificates of award of number now are being issued to all undocumented vessels propelled by motive power regardless of size. These certificates must be carried on the vessels whenever they are operated.

Commercial vessels of five tons and over and pleasure craft of 16 gross tons and over must be documented in the office of the collector of customs.

Schwabach explained various provisions of the numbering and recording act and appealed to the yachtsmen for cooperation in obtaining universal observance of the rules.

Plans for Annual Cleanup Week are Approved by Chief

George T. Prim Lends Support to Jaces Campaign

A cleaner city and a better environment for children will result from the annual Appleton Junior Chamber of Commerce paintup and cleanup week, George T. Prim, chief of police, said this morning as he approved plans for the annual campaign which will be held next week, May 3-10.

Cleaning in the city is a worthwhile move and all home owners should cooperate with the Jaces in making the movement a success, the chief said.

No parade will be held this year, but through various channels the Jaces will promote the repainting of houses and the improvement of yards during the coming week. Merchants will cooperate in the campaign through the display and advertisements of merchandise needed during a general spring cleanup.

The street department will aid in the drive by collecting a rubbish which people place in containers at the curb. No special collections will be made but department leaders are prepared to handle more rubbish and refuse this week than ever before, Lloyd Schindler, city engineer, said this morning.

Removal of all winter refuse will be made by the street department at this time. Although inclement weather thus far has hampered efforts of home owners to improve their property, it is expected that all will make some effort next week to cleanup and paintup their homes.

H. L. Davis, Jr., is general chairman in charge of the campaign and is being assisted by John Notebaart, Clarence Shier, Fred Boughton, Robert Nichols, H. K. Derus, Glenn Arthur, Kenneth Raetz, Harry Hoefel, Elmer Grasz, Wilmer Krueger, Harold Aykens, Foster Cooper, Harold Finger, Walter Dixon.

Continue Strike At Konz Company

Case Is Studied at State Federation of Labor Meet in Milwaukee

No change in the strike situation at the Konz Box and Lumber company was reported today. About 30 employees have been on strike since last Monday morning for what they term "union recognition and a living wage."

Representatives of Coopers' union, local No. 46, of which the strikers are members, attended a meeting of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor at Milwaukee Thursday where their case was studied under the existing laws. The case was immediately reported to the new state labor board for action. Representatives of the union local said. Union officials said they have in their possession affidavits showing direct violations of the Wagner act and are authorized to call in a United States conciliator under the national labor relations board.

Members of the local which is affiliated with the American Federation of Labor and the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor today thanked their sister unions for "the fine spirit they have shown both morally and financially—especially for the donations of local No. 22, Menasha, and the Appleton Trades and Labor council."

Office Building Bill Is Approved

Legislative Action Completed and Measure Sent to Governor

Madison—(AP)—The legislature completed action today on a finance committee bill to construct the central tower wing of the state office building at a cost of $1,500,000.

The measure, sent to Governor LaFollette, is designed to save the state money by eliminating high rentals now paid for outside offices.

Construction of the new building, however, is contingent upon a proposed PWA grant of $700,000, leaving the state's share at $800,000, which would be borrowed from the state insurance fund.

Other legislative actions: Approved by both houses: The Paulson bill licensing funeral directors and embalmers.

Passed by the assembly: The Handrich bill providing for instruction in the government's monetary system in the high schools.

The Baker-Biemiller bill limiting the employment of women to 44 hours a week instead of 50 as at present.

Killed by the assembly: The Grobenschmidt bill permitting injured persons eligible for workmen's compensation to be treated by chiropractors.

Man Who Saved Life

Of Appleton Woman Is Dead at Green Bay

The death of C. H. Murphy, conductor on the Chicago and North Western road since 1901, at 9:50 this morning at Fond du Lac, recalls his receipt of a Carnegie hero medal for saving a woman's life in Appleton about four years ago.

A passenger train was switching at the depot here when the woman, oblivious of her danger, walked directly in its path. Murphy, seeing that she would be run down if she continued, ran several feet and pulled her off the track and narrowly missed being carried under the wheels himself. For this act he was awarded a medal by the Carnegie Hero Fund commission and also received a special safety pass awarded by the railroad to its employees who rendered distinguished service in saving life.

Conductor Murphy ran between Green Bay and Milwaukee on passenger trains through the Fox River valley for many years and was often assigned to excursion trains such as were operated a few years ago between Green Bay and Chicago, and special trains for football games and other occasions.

He was a native of Fond du Lac and had been seriously ill for several months.

Committee Sends Development Bill To State Assembly

Reports WDA Measure for Passage by Balloi Of 6 to 4

Madison—(AP)—The administration's Wisconsin Development Authority bill was reported out for passage last night by the Progressive-controlled state affairs committee of the assembly, 6 to 4.

On motion of Assemblyman Milton T. Murray (R), Milwaukee, the house agreed to place it on the calendar of next Thursday as a special order of business.

Four of the five democrats who were present when the committee acted on the measure, voted against it.

Assemblyman Palmer F. Daugs (D), Ft. Atkinson, offered a substitute to limit the WDA's power of engaging in business solely to the field of public utilities. Opponents of the bill claim the state-sponsored corporation could enter into any kind of business.

The committee refused to accept the substitute, but it will come up on the floor.

Budlong Bill Passed

The assembly passed and sent to the senate the bill of Charles A. Budlong (R), Marinette, extending the 8-hour day to certain county institutions and providing a minimum of $40 a month, plus board, for institutional employees.

It also sent to the senate the Biemiller resolution asking congress to abide by the request of United States Senator George Norris that the federal trade commission be directed to investigate alleged efforts of private utilities to exert unfair influence against municipal or public ownership.

While it delayed final action, the house indicated it will eliminate from the Cashman drivers' license bill the provision for motorist examinations for all motorists when they renew their operating permits.

It adopted an amendment permitting renewals every three years without examination but retaining the clause that new drivers be required to take a road test. Another amendment, which was adopted, cut fee for a drivers' license from 50 to 25 cents. The measure then was sent back to committee.

Costello Dropped From Federation Executive Group

Madison, and John Banachowicz, Milwaukee.

The statement of the executive board follows:

"The general executive board, acting for the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, has made every effort to retain unity within the labor movement in Wisconsin.

"Such efforts have been frustrated by Emil Costello, while serving as a member of the board. The executive board has a responsibility to the workers of this state and it proposes to keep faith with the federation's nearly 200,000 members in Wisconsin. Emil Costello broke faith with this body and with the workers, when he violated the obligation assumed as a member of the board.

"On the basis of the evidence brought before the board, the charges are fully sustained. On this evidence the board considers him irresponsible and untrustworthy. He has placed selfish interest above principles; he has refused to recognize his obligations and refused to cooperate with the Wisconsin Federation of Labor.

"He has actively promoted disruption of legitimate and lawfully constituted labor unions, and incited others to do likewise. He has employed methods and tactics consistent with those used and fostered by the Communist party, with which party he has a close kinship, in an attempt to undermine and destroy the established labor movement of this state. For these reasons he has been suspended as a member of the executive board of the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor."

Final action in the Costello case is expected to come before the next convention of the state federation at Manitowish late this summer. The board is without power to expel a member.

Vacancies Filled

J. J. Handley, secretary of the state federation of labor, announced today the two vacancies on the executive board, one which was caused by Costello's suspension, had been filled.

The new members are Nels Hansen, secretary and business agent of the A. O. Smith Steel Workers' Federal union, and Louis Butterfield, Sr., Green Bay, business agent for the Green Bay Building Trades council.

The second vacancy was caused by the resignation of John Banachowicz, president of the Milwaukee local of the Hosiery Workers' union, A. C. I. O. affiliate.

Refuse to Adjourn

Rejecting 28 motions to adjourn, the senators then remained at work, except for 45 minutes of informality as lunch was brought to the chambers after 7 p. m., until a parliamentary wrangle brought a deadlock at 2:25 a. m. shortly after a threat of fistuffs. Senator Philip Nelson (R), Maple, challenged Senator Maurice Oakley (R), Beloit, during an altercation.

At 2:25 Senator Frank Panzer (P), Oshkosh, took the chair and obtained a compromise between the two factions. The senators forgot the budget bill for a minute or two to pass the Calan resolution permitting the governor to sign a typewritten copy of a bill regulating slaughterhouses in Milwaukee.

The Democratic-Republican coalition then permitted the rest of the budget amendments to fall in rapid succession.

Club Women Vote At Convention on Court Proposal

Cheer Senator Wheeler as He Assails Roosevelt Program

Tulsa, Okla.—(AP)—Federated club women called up for a vote today a resolution opposing President Roosevelt's supreme court program after greeting a United States senator's attack of the plan with prolonged cheering.

Mrs. Robert Campbell Lawson, president, rapped repeatedly for order last night at the council meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs after Senator Burton K. Wheeler concluded an address in which he said:

"There are not six men in the senate today who would vote for the court plan if political pressure were removed."

Keenan urged the change "to put the court on an even keel again."

Senator Wheeler called upon the club women to pass the resolution "and tell some of our weak-kneed congressmen and senators how you stand on the issue."

"I say shame on this administration," he added. "They don't want an infusion of new blood. They want a transfusion of blood that matches their own."

But said Keenan: "Everyone agrees nobody can respect the court today and that unless we can do something within a comparatively short time to put the court on an even keel again—make it nearer one general attitude of mind—the court never will regain the respect of this generation."

HOW THE WIND BLOWS

The winds of public opinion are variable. Just now the air is stirred by labor and political disputes. We are conscious of little else. But the pressure of an East wind is beginning to make itself felt. Public opinion is swinging about, is demanding that more severe limitations shall be placed on the sale of intoxicants.

Before, the wind blew from the West. What began as a mere whispering in Kansas four decades ago swelled into a tornadoic storm that swept out distilleries, breweries, all legalized places for sale of alcoholic beverages. Now, premonitory stirrings are heard in the East, where the so-called "liquor interests" supposedly are most firmly entrenched.

An appeal for a "new crusade" is made by Mrs. Mamie W. Colvin, president of the New York State W.C.T.U., who cites figures to show that when the organization was founded seventy years ago there were 177,000 saloons in the country and that now there are more than 400,000 liquor-selling places. And the New York Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church calls on all Christian forces to unite in a "crusade for prohibition."

These stirrings of opinion cannot be ignored. The "liquor interests," so-called, find unpleasant significance in them; make preparations to rid their ranks of undesirable, to tone down their sales appeals, to place their affairs under the direction of a person of unquestioned probity.

One may not be in agreement with the churchmen, but he must admit that they are armed with potent arguments. Their findings, it is claimed, show that about one-half of the 38,500 deaths in automobile accidents last year were due to "drinking or drunken drivers." They cite figures to show that alcoholism causes 100,000 deaths annually with a resulting $300,000,000 economic loss and that the liquor industry yearly takes $3,000,000,000 "out of the pockets of the American people."

Citing the "promise" of the liquor industry that the saloon would not come back with repeal, the churchmen's report says "the liquor industry has taken out 422,587 licenses for places to sell liquor." Promising to reduce the dangers of liquor to youth, the industry has "put 1,350,000 young women to work as barmaids."

Most of these are not new arguments; the supporting statistics, of course, have changed with the changing times.

But, make no mistake. This wind that blows out of the East is no vagrant breeze. It will blow with increasing force. Seventeen years ago there could be found those who were confident that the prohibition amendment was as solid a pronouncement as the Constitution to which it was appended. That amendment was cancelled quickly when public opinion demanded a change. It is possible that a new prohibition amendment can be as quickly approved if public opinion demands.

THE OLD WEST PASSES!

The Old West is only a memory, kept green by writers of boot-and-saddle fiction. If one has entertained hope that a colorful period in American history has not ended, that hope is dispelled when he reads that Shoshone Indians in Wyoming are planning to establish dude ranches in the high reaches of the Wind River Range.

Now, dude ranches serve a useful purpose. Cowboys whose usefulness ended when ranges were fenced earn their bread and salt by conducting tenderfoot from the East, mounted on Pinto ponies, over trails their pioneering forefathers trod. The Easterners are bronzed by the Western sun, stimulated by the Western air—and the ranch owners are getting "out of the red." Everybody is happy.

Cowboy guides spin tall tales of days when the trails echoed with the yells of Indian braves and when palefaces fought grimly to keep their scalps. The grandsons of those Indians plan to engage in a business that is peculiarly a manifestation of an effete civilization.

Why not? Though we may be startled by the spectacle of blanket Indians engaging in a business that we have identified with super-sophistication, it must be admitted that the Indians are best qualified to translate the traditions of the Old West into terms of the modern.

And as White Rabbittail, an educated Shoshone, says: "You can't beat a bronzed Indian, a regulation tepee and the customary blanket for attracting the attention of our white brothers."

GOLD TROUBLE

For the first time in history a nation is worried by having too much gold. The stuff has been flowing into this country until it's a danger and an expense.

Critics are saying that it wouldn't continue pouring in if our government were not paying so high a price for it in currency. That came from the gold devaluation, which was meant to raise prices and, by making dollars circulate more plentifully, relieve debtors who were being ruined by deflation. It seems to have been helpful in that way, and may continue so as long as no serious inflation starts. Commodity prices and credit volume are still considerably lower than they were in the last boom. But the very presence of several times our normal volume of gold is regarded as perilous.

At best, it is an expense to our government, which has to buy gold at its own high price, and borrow the money to pay for it, and pay interest on the money borrowed, and build storage vaults and provide elaborate safeguards for it. The surplus metal, potentially a basis for a vast amount of bank credit, actually not earning its keep, but "sterilized" and buried, might be used some time to start serious inflation.

Or, another horrible thought, the rest of the nations might decide to devalue gold permanently—not having "enough" themselves to cause them much loss—and leave Uncle Sam holding the bag.

Anyone having a solution for this problem is probably wiser than the official experts.

SPANISH WEALTH

Why have Italy and Germany intruded so insolently in the Spanish civil war? They wanted to get their feet inside the door in order to get their hands on the country's rich natural wealth, to use for armament.

Spain is today, an American inquirer reports, "the most richly endowed nation of her size in Europe." Her natural resources include extensive stores of mercury, iron, copper, lead, tin, tungsten, silver, molybdenum, salt, phosphates, sulphur, pyrites, coal, graphite and lignite (from which motor fuel can be made). There are also iron, lead and manganese across the Straits in Spanish Morocco.

It is a pity that Spain has not made better use of these resources herself. If she had done so, and had made a fair division of the benefits, she would not have fallen into such poverty and impotence as to be overrun by foreign armies.

The easy wealth that poured into Spain in her great days of exploration and colonization was her undoing. She looted the rich countries of the New World of their gold and silver, lived high, grew soft and proud, and neglected her own wealth at home. So she lost her colonies and decayed, and the industrial era passed her by.

With peace and unity, and a square deal socially, and help instead of hindrance from her neighbors, Spain might yet become a modern, efficient nation.

COLORADO'S PENSION TANGLE

Of all the states that invited trouble for themselves of one kind or another, in the last election, Colorado seems to have snarled herself up most effectively.

It was done through a constitutional amendment for an old age pension system, adopted by a big majority and supported by both parties. That amendment provides a pension of $45 to $200 a month for all people over 60 years of age, whether they need it or not.

The present outlook is that it will cost the state $30,000,000 a year. That is about half the value of all agricultural production, both crops and livestock. It means a tax of nearly $30 a year for every man, woman and child in the state.

And it is inexorable. The amendment provides that there must be set aside for these pensions 85 per cent of all present and future excise taxes on retail sales "now or hereafter levied upon the use, consumption or storage of any commodity or product."

This undertaking obviously would ruin the state. And nothing can be done about it for years. That is what comes of assuming public burdens too lightly.

Opinions Of Others

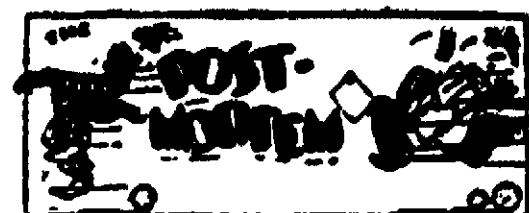

STATE TARIFF FOLLY

The Institute of Cottonseed Oil Foods calls attention to discriminatory tax legislation pending in the Iowa and other legislatures, taking the form of a prohibitive impost of 5 cents a pound on southern shortening. Institute figures reveal shortening as accounting for the largest cash income of the cotton belt farmer derived from a single food product. The 1936 output was 1,544,000,000 pounds.

The principle behind such a tax is the same as that behind prohibitory taxes on margarine. The constitutional prohibition of state tariffs and embargoes is evaded by levying the tax on the entire product having little application, of course to a state that has little or no production of cottonseed shortening.

The obvious resort to this type of legislation is retaliation applied to products that can be singled out for the treatment. The sensible American solution is to retain free trade between the states and end all discriminatory taxation that endeavors to raise some sort of tariff wall.—The Dallas (Tex.) Morning News.

Seventy-one-year-old Sidney Jarman recently rode an eight-year-old bicycle to MacLean's Beacon, the highest point on Table Mountain in South Africa.

FOR several weeks I have been seeking the answer to a problem and all I get is a vicious circle . . . what I want to know is: "does a nervous stock market make people nervous or do nervous people make the stock market nervous?" . . . from my standpoint, the stock market makes me nervous, ever since the stuff I got in exchange for Amalgamated Gadgets started to go piffit every time there was some slight agitation on Wall street . . . the other day there was a decided piffit in Wall street and Consolidated Bathmat Binder fell down the stairs again . . . that made me nervous . . . but what made the stock market nervous to cause C.B.B. to fall down the stairs and make me nervous? . . .

This is all pure nonsense, of course, because the stock market is simply a collection of people trying to make money at other people's expense, and the bulk of them actively engaged in this fascinating process have ragged nervous systems, and are affected by voodoo superstitions and the unpredictable activities in Washington.

Us farmers got troubles, too.

We wanted rain and we got it. It's first a feast and then a famine. We didn't want snow but we got it.

One morning the meadow was brown and the next morning white and the next it was green.

My neighbor's field is a sea of mud. He is shooting crops in with a shotgun. Shooting oats in outside around the field. It's too tight to shoot far. Then a strip of wheat because it carries farther than oats and then he shoots corn in the middle.

No use Jonah and me arguing politics because the further we was together the nearer we was away.

If either Mussolini or Stalin have designs on Spain, it's about time they stepped in and took over management of the place. At the rate the Spaniards are going, there will be nothing left standing except a few mountains.

It's tough on Charlie Grimm just now, of course, but at least the Cub fans in these parts are staying pretty quiet, and that's something.

Yesterday marked the seventh consecutive sunless day according to my records, and, considering that it's April instead of November, things are getting into a terrible state of affairs.

The coal bin has me worried again.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

TO A NEW BABY

Welcome, little baby, coming
In the early Spring.
Thrusting out your patted fingers.
Like the blossoming
Of the first shy crocus, growing!
Welcome, baby, to the glowing
World, you cunning thing!

Welcome, little baby! Sunshine
Lingers in your gaze
And the gloomy world rejoices
On this day of days!
See the blue of heaven gleaming
In sweet eyes that have been dreaming
Of angelic ways.

Welcome, little baby, welcome!
Now our doubts takes wing!
Faith's renewal is a pledge
A baby's hands can bring!
Welcome, baby, with assuring
Love, divine and all-enduring.
Priceless gift of Spring!

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Friday, April 23, 1927

Mr. and Mrs. George Huhn of Clintonville, formerly of Menasha, who were married in St. Mary church, Menasha, celebrated their golden wedding jubilee Tuesday at Clintonville, renewing their vows at the Catholic church in that city.

Farmers have started setting back their fences to provide more room for paving Highway 26 this spring. Poles of the Wisconsin Traction Light Heat and Power company and the Wisconsin Telephone company will be moved before the road work is started.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brail, Sr., 1219 W. Lawrence street, who will leave in two weeks for Milwaukee, were surprised at a farewell party Tuesday night by 40 neighbors.

A mock grand opera will be presented by members of the Lawrence college faculty at a meeting of the Campus club Saturday night at Peabody hall. Dean Carl J. Waterman and Miss Lucille Welby of the public speaking department of the college will direct the opera.

25 YEARS AGO

Friday, May 1, 1912

D. J. Boyle, John Schwamer and Frank Kohl were appointed by Judge Goodland as commissioners for the proposed drainage project which is planned to drain the Center swamp and return to production 2,450 acres of land not now in use.

The body of John Servaes, who lives at Combed Locks, was found in 22 feet of water in the first of the locks early this morning. How Servaes fell into the water is unknown. The lock was drained when a dinner bucket was found floating in the lock.

Marriage licenses were issued that day to the following couples: Charles Kirk and Ida Sternagel, Appleton; C. M. Brainerd, Appleton, and Ellen J. Root, Seattle.

Mrs. Charles Ender was elected a president of the Elks Ladies society at a meeting the previous afternoon. Miss Evelyn Tesch was elected secretary and treasurer.

Hotel guests at Devonshire, England, now use a ferry that travels on land and sea. It is equipped with tractor wheels for land, and a propeller is driven off the tractor motor to drive the ferry through water.

NEW DESIGN FOR JUSTICE

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

GOOD TEETH FOR LONG YOUTH

On the principle that a "man is as old as his arteries" physicians estimate age by feeling the pulse and judging the degree of sclerosis (hardening) and loss of elasticity in the radial artery. Laymen generally estimate a person's age by appearances—color, carriage, smoothness or wrinkled appearance of skin, timbre (not loudness nor pitch) of voice, baldness, resiliency of movements. I have always imagined the feel of the skin told me as much as sometimes more than any of these appearances, but aside from dryness or harshness to touch, the characteristic which distinguishes youth from age is difficult to describe. It may be a difference in temperature—I cannot say.

In the sixth, nearly if not quite the last edition of the doctor's bible Osler said "I am more and more impressed with the part played by overeating in inducing arterio-sclerosis." Osler added that George Cheyne's advice (which was quoted in an article here the other day) was never more needed than by the present (1906) generation. Cheyne reduced from 448 to 150 pounds when he was thirty and urged the man of fifty to begin cutting down on his diet if he wished to keep his sense and faculties in his later years.

From my study, experience and observation I am more and more impressed with the part played by the teeth in preserving and prolonging youth. I believe every tooth lost by disease, accident or design cuts two or three years off from the individual's life expectation, unless its function is carried on by a suitable denture.

Every one knows how fast a person ages when many or all of the teeth are removed and not immediately replaced by artificial teeth. Most people are unaware of the insidious undermining of health and youthful resiliency by unchecked pyorrhea.

A common, unconsidered factor of pyorrhea is the loss or functional impairment of one or two teeth on one side of the mouth, back teeth that do not show. If the mouth is kept carefully closed, this defect soon establishes the habit of masticating entirely on the other side of the mouth, and degeneration of tissues and development of pyorrhea in the gum tissues of the unused side of the mouth is almost inevitable. It is astonishing how many people still under middle age drift along more or less edentulous, from health to premature senility or semi-individualism, just because they do not appreciate the value of good teeth or because they do not appreciate the value of good dentistry.

Unless there is some unusual complication, the well-advised individual who is compelled to have one or more teeth extracted should invariably have the bridge, plate or other denture which is to replace the tooth lost, fitted and begin wearing it immediately, certainly within a day or two following extraction. Only crude antiquated practitioners, unworthy of patronage, keep patients waiting weeks and months for new teeth.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Should Ladies Smoke?
Recent statements that more blue babies are born since women went in for smoking. This was ascribed to excessive smoking of cigarettes by girls before and after marriage. (H. S. R.)

Answer—I know of no reliable statistics to support that idea. But I do believe women who smoke are less capable of maternity and rearing children. The expectant mother or the nursing mother who smokes, of course, gives her baby a dose of tobacco, nicotine, carbon monoxide or whatever it is that the smoker gets. Send ten cents and stamped address envelope for booklet "Preparing for Maternity."

Excessive Yawning
What causes excessive yawning? I am much troubled with this. I have a valvular heart defect. Could it be the cause? (J. W.)

Answer—It indicates oxygen hunger. If there is any impairment of the circulation due to the valvular defect, that may account for hypothyroidism or mild deficiency of thyroid function is a common cause. Iodine ration would tend to correct hypothyroidism.

The Stands for Tubercle
School doctor and health officer says T. B. is not contagious. (Mrs. J. L. H.)

Answer—T. B. stands for tubercle bacilli. The stands for tubercle or tuberculosis. The school doctor and health officer is right. Tuberculosis is not contagious. Send stamped envelope bearing your address for monograph.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address: Dr. William Brady, 265 El Camino, South, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Your Birthday

"TAURUS"

If May 1 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:15 a. m. to 12:15 p. m., from 2:15 to 4:15 p. m. and from 8:15 to 10:15 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:15 to 10:15 a. m., from 4:15 to 6:15 p. m. and from 10:15 p. m. until midnight.

Misunderstandings are liable to put a severe strain on friendships this day, so be slow in placing an adverse construction upon anything a friend says. Nature may play some capricious pranks, especially in the way of optical illusions. You may discover that at times it pays to look twice at the same object. Handle fluids with care, for through the spilling of them a good deal of damage is liable to occur. You may not have to look further than the length of your nose to find something you are anxious to see. Visibility will play an important part in exposing puzzling occurrences. The average housewife will be showing good judgment if she arranges to be prepared to entertain an unexpected guest, for she is liable to have one or more this day.

Married and engaged couples, and those who have discovered that they are deeply in love, must be careful that some little-tale does not disconnect them to the extent that they will become quarrelsome.

If a woman and May 1 is your birthday, you have a good disposition, but a quick temper. You are sincere, have a depth of affection, but are capable of disliking people intensely. Your love for pretty clothing and artistic things makes you discriminating in your buying. Your eyesight ought to be excellent, if it has not been subjected to strain. You most likely have a vigorous way of expressing your self, especially if you are confused over anything. It appears you should have your full share of good fortune, and any streak of "bad luck" will be of a very short duration. As a teacher, artist, author, actress, secretary, librarian or business woman you will be able to do well financially. In your selection of a husband sound judgment is likely to be displayed.

The child born on May 1, probably will have a poetic imagination, and by the time it reaches its teens display a considerable talent for writing. This youngster will be ambitious, and sufficiently aggressive to push its way to the top.

If a man and May 1 is your natal day, sooner or later you ought to prove yourself to be a money-maker. You should have a great deal of ability. As a lawyer, doctor, chemist, scientist, financier, broker, salesman or actor you probably will win a rating above the average.

Successful People Born on May 1:
Walter H. Weed, geologist.
Wharton Barker, financier.
Daniel B. Wesson, inventor and manufacturer.
Junius Brutus Booth, actor.
Robert Clarke, pioneer publisher.
George Inness, artist.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER
New York—It's not only that the circus is in town.... Spring has come to the canyons of Manhattan, although to make sure you really have to go down to the Battery or the meadows of Central Park.

In an open space you can see and feel the sunshine—and it's hats in the air. It's walking weather, too, with foot passengers, to use a quaint term—it's spring, and anything goes—with foot passengers strolling down the long reaches of city streets to catch up with the sunshine turning the windows of skyscrapers into glittering bonfires. Topcoats are left behind, and the barehead brigade is out in full force.

But what really makes it official—the slender trees in Washington Square, perhaps the loveliest spot in town, are bursting into green, and the sidewalk tables, flanked by potted plants, are out in front of the Brevoort a block away on lower Fifth avenue. There, nightly, will congregate the standpat Bohemians of Greenwich Village, to talk over old times, Paris days, the arts and—perhaps what is the first order of business—to sip beer.

The Brevoort, of course, is not the only place in town with its sidewalk cafe; lower Fifth avenue is dotted with them, like oases in the desert, each replete with trees and bushes in great boxes and tubs. The importation of the sidewalk cafe is one of the things expatriates will tell you, that show American has come of age.

Of course, Ford Madox Ford wrote a book called "New York Is Not America," but why bring that up?

Speaking of Ford reminds that he is the originator of the spinach story... he told us so himself.

Ford is a great story-teller—raconteur as they say in French—and it's just as much fun to listen to him holding forth at a literary tea as it is to read his books. Once, when he was in a particularly expansive mood as regards stories, and was telling one after the other with great artistry, we ventured to interrupt to ask him if he knew the spinach story. (The story: a dinner guest is caught putting mashed potatoes on his hair. Told what he was doing, he exclaims: "So sorry—I thought it was spinach.") "Of course," said Ford, smiling. "I made it up. Let's see—it was a long time ago. I was guest of honor at a club in London. When I stood up to speak, I was so nervous I fiddled with something in my plate, without once looking down, and someone remarked: 'I say,

A Bystander In Washington

BY FRESTON GROVER
Washington—It is almost a shame to write this because some gasping promoter may read it and take the first ship out to Guam, put the place on a speed-up production basis and so convert another of the paradise islands to the sad ways of civilization.

Guam is a cute little island west-erly from Hawaii whose residents petitioned the senate recently to make them citizens instead of just "nationals" of the United States.

Comic Opera
They took on that strange "half way" status of nations in one of those comic opera sequences that made the Spanish-American war one of the fanciest pieces of fighting any nation ever shared in. Guam was a Spanish island, so during the war a Yankee cruiser steamed up alongside and slammed a couple of shells across the little Spanish fort, which is of about the size of a weaver's cow corral.

Fear Japan
After the lapse of nearly 40 years, a delegation from Guam told the senate insular affairs committee that time has not changed the fundamental customs of the place, that the natives are still living in a sort of paradise. But the trouble is, all the islands around them have come under Japanese control and the Guamanes want to be tucked a little tighter under the American wing.

One Guerrero, head of the delegation, said his people were doing very nicely, helped out by the money being spent there to maintain a naval station. Relief is no problem and there is no farm tenancy.

He passed a note to a senator suggesting he ask Guerrero why he should want to become an American and become involved in sit-down troubles, swing rhythm and contract bridge tournaments. But it was no use. The senator smiled dreamily. He was giving close attention to photographs of two pretty Mestizo girls and couldn't be bothered. Grinning mischievously, he suggested it would be better if a committee of the senate visited the islands before taking action on such important legislation.

Services Announced For Summer Months

Black Creek—Services will be held at 9:30 and Sunday school at 10:30, for the summer months beginning Sunday at Immanuel Lutheran church.

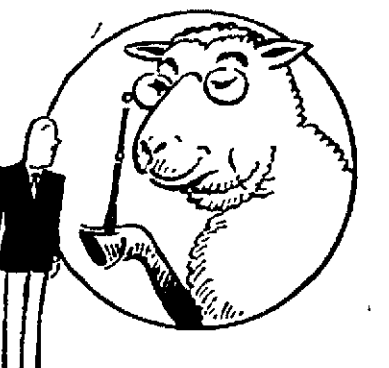

"Christians' Privilege of Prayer," is the topic for the English service. The Ladies Aid society will meet Wednesday afternoon at the parish school.

"Steps Toward Spiritual Joy," is the topic for the English service Sunday at St. John Evangelical church at 10:30. A German service and Sunday school will be held at 9:30. The Women's Union will hold a meeting Wednesday afternoon. An English service will be held at 7:45 Sunday evening at St. John Evangelical church, town of Cicero.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Schwitzer have moved to a farm of Tom Hearty in the town of Ellington.

The Black Creek 4-H club will give its play, "The Dish of China Tea," at the meeting Tuesday evening of the Parent-Teacher association at the village school.

That's the fillet of sole you're toying with. "Oh, so sorry," I replied. "I thought it was spinach." Somehow, spring and spinach don't go together very badly, at that.

Don't take a cut in quality even though there's been a raise in costs.

Don't come down from your pedestal of nice things just because the sheep are asking for shorter hours.

Not with us in town.
We bought this huge stock BEFORE any price raises and as long as it lasts, we're going to make customers while the sun shines and pass along this new apparel without one penny raise in price.

Algoma Students Reserve Seats For Children's Play

A true to life story is the rating given the play, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which will be staged by Clare Tree Major players at 3:30 Wednesday afternoon at Lawrence Memorial chapel. The Edison Grade School Parent Teachers association is sponsoring the play.

A delegation of 32 Algoma school children and two adults have made reservations for the play, Homer L. Gebhardt, general secretary announced today. Reserved seats were placed on sale Wednesday at Belling's Drug store. Student tickets have been distributed at the various schools.

Because the play is a story of real life, it is expected that older school children and adults will attend. Although large crowds attended the first two plays this year by the Clare Tree Major players, advance ticket sales point to a capacity crowd for this third and last production.

The story is all action and movement with few long discussions. There is good drama plenty of fun and stories of life's struggles in the play. The Wiggs children, Billy and his sisters, Euphonia, Australia and Asia, are real children, doing the ordinary things and living ordinary lives.

Mrs. Wiggs' cheerful philosophy is famous. "You do look kind of mixes, but I don't know that it matters as long as you are happy," is her satisfied comment when she lets Asia wear the skirt and Australia the bodice of a dress from the home mission bundle.

Dangerous Seeds

Sacramento, Calif. — (4) — High prices for alfalfa seed, because of this state's principal crops, have given the state department of agriculture a new problem. Cheap seed shipped here has been seized and analyzed and found to consist of as high as 29 per cent weed seed. In one specimen, it was determined that in every pound of seed sown by a farmer he would be planting 105, 294 weeds.

The majority of the population of Haiti are Negroes, while most of the rest are mulattoes descended from former French settlers.

Player Makes Grand Slam Through Help of Squeeze

BY ELY CULBERTSON
"Dear Mr. Culbertson: I travel around the country quite a bit and usually try to discover a contract game to play while on the road. Here is a hand with which South Bend, Ind., favored me. I was fortunate enough to bid and make a grand slam in diamonds through the help of a squeeze."

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:
South West North East
1 diamond Pass 2 hearts Pass
2 diamonds Pass 3 no trump Pass
6 diamonds Pass 7 diamonds Pass

"The bidding was, perhaps, overly ambitious, but you will agree that I had a good play for the grand slam. West opened the bidding with 1 diamond. I saw two chances for contract—a 3-3 break of hearts permitting a club discard, or a club finesse. I was reluctant to depend on either. I took another look and saw a possibility of getting an accurate count on the distribution that would obviate the necessity for a guess."

"After winning the spade lead I played three rounds of diamonds, cashed the spade ace, led a heart to dummy's queen, returned a heart to my ace and there was a squeeze. With six remaining cards West virtually was marked with four spades because East had played first the five and then the ten. If West's other two cards were the queen and one club, they must drop; if one club and one heart, the hearts had split evenly and dummy's fourth heart is good; if two hearts, a small club to the king reveals the fact and automatically establishes a squeeze against West, who must guard dummy's fourth heart and spade, something he will not be able to do. If West's two remaining cards had been two small clubs, meaning that East had the hearts stopped and the club queen to guard, the squeeze would be on East. Thus, regardless of how the side suits were distributed, the fact that I had located West with four spades out of six cards remaining was the crux."

"I led a small club to the king and another low club back to my ace. When West followed to both rounds the situation was revealed. I laid down my two trumps and East had to let go his last club, which would establish my seven spot or a heart, which would establish dummy's king and six."

"I submit this hand only as an example of the reward to be earned from deferring a doubtful finesse. Yours very truly,
"Frank Aulick, Chicago."

TODAY'S QUESTION
Question: In progressive bridge, is the 250 bonus for progression still used?

Answer: No. The 250 bonus for progression has been eliminated. A minimum of 50 points is scored for making any contract less than game.

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.
Jo-Jette Pointer
After he has seen his full nine card hand, declarer has the right to bid a slam. This is a bid to win all nine tricks. If successful, declarer scores a premium of 500 points. This is a high premium and well worth trying for, but declarer must remember that if he loses even one trick he loses the hand. In such case, even if he has outscored the defender, the latter scores the trick score of both players above the line. (If declarer actually outscored declarer he gets the trick score of both players below the line, as in all hands on which he outscored declarer.) Declarer also should remember that there is a premium of 100 points for making all the tricks even if a slam is not bid. A slam should be bid on a 50 per cent chance, except when both players have scored a game. In that case declarer needs about a 60 per cent chance.

Old Gardener Says:

BY E. I. FARRINGTON
There are many pests which work at this season. The cutworm is a particularly obnoxious creature, operating at night and for that reason being difficult to discover. It cuts off the stems of young plants close to the ground and has a particular fondness for tomato plants, melons, squashes and cucumbers, although it will not ignore other kinds. In the flower garden, it cuts off the stalks of dahlias and other upright growing flowers. If the plants are dug around in the morning with a pointed stick, the cutworms will often be found. Some garden makers hunt for cutworms at night in the same way that Diogenes is supposed to have hunted for an honest man, that is, with a lantern. It is much easier, however, to depend upon some one of the cutworm bait sold at the seed stores. This material is mostly made up of strong poison mixed with bran and some sweet substance.

Mulch rose bushes to keep water in and sun out of the soil in which they are planted. Spray and dust to prevent disease.

If window sills are waxed after they have been varnished or painted it will be much easier to keep them clean.

When stringing beads or pearls of various sizes place them in order in one of the grooves of a piece of corrugated paper. It will then be much easier to slip them onto the needle.

Children of Times Gone By

V—IN RECENT YEARS
The struggle to give children a fair chance in life has been long and hard, but in some countries it seems almost impossible. In the United States, the child labor law is a thing of the past. In 1916 and 1919 the congress passed child labor laws, but both were ruled out by the supreme court, which said congress did not have the power to make such laws.
The supreme court decision led to passage of the amendment by a two-thirds vote of the senate and house of representatives. Then it was offered to the state legislature to be "ratified." More than half the states have agreed to the amendment, but three-fourths of the states must accept it before it can become the law of the land.
It must not be forgotten that many American states have good child labor laws. Others, however, have laws which do not amount to much. In a few states, boys and girls only 12 years of age can be sent into full-time work. In certain other states, children 13 or 14 years of age can be placed at labor which keeps them out of school. Some American cotton mills employ children and other children work in factories of other kinds. Several thousand children have been injured by machines while working in factories or mills during the past few years, and some have lost their lives.
Labor which keeps boys or girls out of school, or causes accidents, or hurts their health, is a sad thing to think about. We may be cheered, however, by the great progress which has been made. The world seems to be working, slowly but surely, to take good care of its children.
The leaflet called "Your Body at Work" may be had by sending a 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope to me in care of this newspaper.

Children at work in a mill
Almost everyone today is against full-time child labor, that is, against labor which would keep children from having their proper time at school. Only a century ago, however, some persons said it was not wrong for children to work from 10 to 14 hours a day in factories and mines. The historian, Charles Downer Hazen, tells us, "This monstrous system was defended in the name of liberty—the liberty of the laborer to sell his labor."
We may be glad that far more people were against that kind of work by children. Laws of one kind or another have been made against child labor in many countries. Other laws have given us public schools, where boys and girls can go without charge for anything but textbooks. In some places, the textbooks are paid for out of public funds.

Claims Walking Is Best Exercise For Children

BY ANGELO PATRI
"Mother, can't Charles drive me down town?"
"What for? What's the idea?"
"Well, he is only doing his translations and I have to go to Swazay's. I need some blotting paper. I forgot to get it the other day when I was down. Why can't he drive me down?"
"In the first place because you have a pair of perfectly good legs and you can use them. In the second place Charles is busy. And if you need any other reasons I prefer that you walk instead of calling for the car, every time you have an errand to do."
"It's ten long blocks and I'm tired."
"Walking ten blocks ought to rest you after a day of sitting in school. You need to walk. I cannot imagine what put such ideas into your head. Just run along and be glad you have two good legs."
"I'm the only girl that has to walk. I think it is a shame. I don't care. I think it is mean. Yes, I do."
Nobody answered, and by and by the healthy girl stopped sulking and walked the ten blocks for her paper and back again, without evident injury to her health.
Children are not getting as much walking exercise as they should. We hear school children scrambling because they have to walk three-quarters of a mile to school. They think the bus ought to call for them. They scramble if they have to walk a few blocks for the groceries. Either somebody ought to take them in the car or mother ought to telephone and have the things brought over, in a car.
There is reason in all things. I would not have children walk too far. I would not have them overburdened, in any way, but I would have them know the full use of their legs and arms. Walking is the best of exercises and if the walk is safe, as it ought to be, they should walk instead of ride. They ought to be made to walk a certain distance daily for their health's sake.
Walking clubs are splendid for boys and girls. If the group is headed by a trained leader, so much

Stimulate Circulation In Spring

BY ELSIE PIERCE
WINTER—in spite of all my sermons to the contrary—is, I'll confess not exactly conducive to long walks and fresh-air jaunts. Summer on the other hand is too stifling and one gets weary too quickly. But—spring! What better time to walk and walk, breathe deep, whip up the blood stream, send it coursing merrily on its way. "To your health" you'll be adding as you drink in draughts of fresh, clear, pure air. Physicians tell us that the majority of humans seldom use their entire lungs. We breathe through the effort on our part and we do it badly—superficially. So during the glorious spring days the least you can do is fill every last little crevice and corner of the lungs with air, fresh, pure, give them a thorough spring cleaning.
There are many other ways of whipping up the circulation, but I do think that outdoor exercise is far and away the best.

As a close second the bath does a fine "whipping up" job. Not the innocuous, sit-back and do-nothing sort of a bath. That's very soothing and restful. But it doesn't quicken the blood stream quite the way a bath that gives your skin quite a work out would do. That sort of bath calls for plenty of action. You can even be a little rough with yourself, using a coarse wash cloth or a long-handled bath brush, or a loofah sponge.
Speaking of loofahs, there are loofah bath mits to be used after the bath and loofah straps that can be whisked back and forth, shoe-shine fashion across your back. Your skin will soon be aglow with a healthy, pinkish color indicating that you've whipped up the circulation.
While in your tub you rub-a-dub, dub with your good bland soap and warm water. The way this friction sloughs off dead outer skin is amazing. It actually purifies the pores and seems to have bleaching as well as deep-pore cleansing powers.

The salt rub (sometimes called "Russian Rub") is a splendid stimulant. You can take it while still in your tub. With elbow, moist, rub with a handful of table salt. Then get out under your shower— from warm to cold if you can. Or, you can take the salt rub standing up. Moisture the skin under the shower, rub with salt, rinse off. That should do things to the circulation.
Out of the rub there are delightful eau de colognes, friction lotions, toilet waters to whip up the circulation and make you smell sweet, too.

Age Question Important In Successful Marriage

BY DOROTHY DIX
No other problem looms larger on the matrimonial horizon than the question of age. There isn't a day that I don't get dozens of letters from boys and girls in their teens asking if they are too young to marry, and from men and women who are seventyish who want to know if they are too old to marry.

Rich old men, who say they are boys at heart, ask if there would be any risk in their marrying girls young enough to be their granddaughters. Wealthy elderly widows, who are sure they are loved for themselves alone, want to know if there is any danger in their turning cradle-snatchers. Both men and women ask what is the best age to marry? How much difference should there be between a husband's and wife's age? And does it matter if the wife is the older?

Not without reason do the prudent, who are contemplating starting forth on the matrimonial journey, stop and ask: How old is Ann? How old is John? For whether that on the age of one's traveling companion more than upon any other. This is bound to be the case because happiness in marriage is impossible without congeniality between the husband and wife. There are a thousand more chances that a man and woman of approximately the same age will have the same tastes and habits than there is that a couple between whom there is a great disparity of age will like to do the same things or enjoy the same things.

That is the great argument against an old man marrying a young girl, or an old woman marrying a boy husband. The old want to sit by the fire and nurse their rheumatism, while the young want to be going places and doing things. The young are looking forward and the old are looking backward. They have no point of contact. They bore each other because they have no memories in common. They are

As to what is the best age to marry, no one can say, except that children in their teens should be prevented from doing so. They are immature, undeveloped. They have no idea of what they are going to be themselves or what they will want in a husband or wife when they grow up, and it is sheer luck if any girl-and-boy marriage doesn't end in divorce. Besides, ninety-nine times out of a hundred, they have no way of supporting a family and so they dump the burden of their wives and husbands and children on their unfortunate parents.

If any rule can be laid down for marriage as regards the age factor, I should say that the ideal time would be between when a man is 25 and 30 and a girl between 21 and 28. By that time they have come to themselves. They have had their playtime. The man has generally got into some line of work that will support a family. They are both ready to settle down. They are both young enough to be romantic and old enough to make a suitable choice of a mate.

The question of the advisability of a woman marrying a man younger than herself cannot be categorically answered because it depends upon so many things, principally upon the sporting blood of the woman. For she cannot disguise to herself that she takes a great risk when she does so.

So it all boils down into saying that we have the best chances of happiness in marriage when we marry in our own age class.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

BY EMILY POST

SILVER TEAS AND HOSTESSES
Dear Mrs. Post: Will you explain in detail just what is meant by a silver tea and how does one go about giving such a tea? I know it has something to do with the guests paying money, and we thought this type of party might be the answer to our helping to swell a fund for a local charity.

Answer: The only thing I know about a silver tea is that you pay silver for admission—and perhaps another silver piece for whatever you eat with your tea. A quarter is the usual admission when there are other things to buy. In any case, it is just a polite way of disguising the fact that silver means money.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am employed as a hostess in a hotel. Here, as well as wherever I have worked, I have been given to understand that I was wrong in instructing waitresses to serve the lady, who sits at the host's right at a dinner party, first. The reason for the objection has always been that the hotel's first courtesy was to the hostess. Perhaps I am wrong in feeling that rules of courtesy, which ordinarily exist in a private house, should as well be observed at a private dinner party in a hotel. Will you explain to me why courtesy to their guests is different when a host and hostess give a party in a hotel?

Answer: It shouldn't be but it is understandable that a hotel considers its first obligation is to the person who pays the bill. This is the same reason exactly why untrained servants are almost certain to serve the hostess (who pays their wages) first, until they are taught properly.

Dear Mrs. Post: I've moved to this town a stranger and know only a few people who have been friendly at church. One of these women asked me after church yesterday whether I would come to her party this week, and I said yes. Since then I've been thinking that perhaps I should not have accepted so hastily, since she as well as the others have not been to call on me.

Answer: Yesterday's formal exaction that cards should be left on a stranger at the same time that a first invitation is given is so seldom observed in this modern day that it would, I think, be a great mistake not to meet whatever kindness your neighbors show you fully halfway. By all means accept her invitation and say nothing about paying visits. Afterwards you should of course go to see her but not leave a card unless she is out. In this case leave your card alone because you are not returning a formal visit. If you know that it won't be possible to invite her to something in return, it would be very polite to send her a few flowers the next day.

Urge Nation to Back President's Stand on Economy

Babson Lists Highlights of Federal Financial Program

BY ROGER W. BABSON
HIGHLIGHTS OF FEDERAL FINANCE

1. Federal annual expenses have increased 400 per cent since 1929 and now cost a family of five $275 per year.
2. Federal debt for a family of five amounts to $1375.
3. Tax receipts are highest in history, yet our deficit for this year will be about $2,300,000,000.
4. Business is now 6 per cent above normal, but expenses are even now greater than when business was much below normal.

Marietta, Ohio—President Roosevelt's recent message on the budget was a vigorous, courageous statement. He has taken a strong stand on the economy issue. The nation must back him to the limit. His address has given the middle-of-the-grounds—the great majority of the voters of the country—new hope. The President promises a balanced budget in his campaign last fall. There is no doubt how the voters felt on this issue. Now it is time for Congress to help the President carry out his platform and put federal finance back on a firm footing.

My only interest in these political goings-on is to analyze their probable effect on business trends. During the past few years I have discussed many Washington developments, but from this angle only. On some occasions, I have applauded the government's efforts to end various abuses. On others, I have differed sharply with their policy. The basis of most of my criticism has been that the government has been in motion for which it may be able to stop for many years to come. For instance, the creation of consciousness of "class" is a dangerous rock to start rolling down the mountain. The same is true of the encouragement of the public spending impulse. Nothing is easier to build up than a vested interest in government spending. Nothing is harder to break than the octopus-like grip of such a vested interest.

Double Tax '32 Low
President Roosevelt made a real appeal for economy. Naturally he did not wish to go too deeply into the spending record. Hence, not only do I wish to echo and emphasize what he said, but I also want to give readers a "straight-from-the-shoulder" talk to pass along to their representative and senators at Washington. First, let us glance at the trend of federal expenses since the Civil War (the beginning of our modern industrial era). These figures are fair because they are given on a per person basis:

| Year | Per Capita Expenses | Per Capita Federal Debt |
|------|---------------------|-------------------------|
| 1860 | 2.00 | 2.06 |
| 1900 | 6.84 | 16.86 |
| 1917 | 19.34 | 28.57 |
| 1920 | 50.84 | 223.32 |
| 1929 | 31.67 | 139.40 |
| 1932 | 41.28 | 158.12 |
| 1936 | 69.41 | 262.00 |
| 1937 | 55.00 | 275.00 |

Federal annual expenses are currently equal to $35 for every man, woman, and child in this country. If you are head of a family of five, you pay $275 per year toward running the federal government. You may not realize it, for the Treasury is borrowing half this sum rather than taxing you for the whole amount. Unless you pay an income tax you may not know about the other half either, because the taxes are buried in the cost of the goods you buy. (Did you know that there are 200 separate taxes on gas and oil?) The annual income of the average family is $1,700. Federal expenses since 1929 have increased 400 per cent and more than doubled since 1932, but the national income is 30 per cent below the peak. Expenses amount to over $10,000,000,000 day and night. The expenses I refer to are only those of the federal government. Adding to them the local, county, and state layouts, the total represents roughly $16,000,000,000 per year. If everybody, except those on the public payroll, paid taxes in the same proportion as their income, thirty cents out of every dollar in wages and salary would have gone for government of one kind or another.

Red Ink Figures Redder
The danger signal in this spending spree is the fact that no progress toward budget balancing has been made. Actually, we have lost ground in spite of a tremendous increase in government revenues! This fiscal year's receipts are $2,500,000,000 higher than in 1932, yet our annual deficit is still $2,300,000,000 this year compared with $3,150,000,000 in 1932. Worst of all, in the last few months the gap between public income and outgo has widened. So far in 1937 monthly revenues have picked up $125,000,000 over last year, but expenses have leaped even higher—$150,000,000 more per month. The first four months' deficit of about $750,000,000 is $300,000,000 more than the dark-red ink figure of the same period last year.

Naturally these huge raids on the Treasury are steadily multiplying the public debt. Brought down to a you-and-me basis, the federal government debt amounts to $275 per capita. The family of five spoken of above, therefore, owe the government $1,375 right now. The interest on this alone is $30 a year per family! Of course, some of these public obligations have taken the place of private credit and the net gain in the debt which all citizens owe may not have increased as much as the figures indicate. However, a big portion of the public debt has nothing else behind it but perpetual operating costs. Millions are being squandered and wasted on useless and unnecessary "projects." If it does nothing else but eliminate waste, the President's message will give us a big start toward a balanced budget.

Not Hewing To Line

Basically the "New Deal" theory of public spending to offset private retrenchment in a depression period and then pay off the debt in good times with money received through increased tax revenues from better business, is generally sound. I say "generally" because the theory is sound only if the projects on which the government spends its money are useful and needed. Furthermore, if the government can not help to its plan of paying off its depression-accumulated debt in good times, the program is nothing more than a raid on the public treasury. Today we are already 6 per cent above "normal" in a period of prosperity according to my Babsonchart. Yet our federal spending is even larger than at the pit of the depression!

If we can not so much as balance our budget, let alone pay off the $19,000,000,000 of debt pyramided during the depression, what will the outcome be during the next period of distress? What will happen to those who have been taught that the government will take care of them if they can not provide for themselves? Just think of it! Our deficit is greater today than at the very abyss of the depression with business double the low level and tax receipts at the highest peak in history! It is high time that the spending issue was squarely put up to the nation. Many of the ultra-conservative think it is already too late. They feel that the spending machine is so large and has developed so much "vote-power" that it can steamroller any attempts to control it. I do not agree with this opinion, but do believe that we must end this current "pork-barrelling" and "ward-bossing" spree.

No Fairy-Tale Here

Two years ago in one of my weekly letters I told readers plainly where the trail of government deficits always ends. People thought I had gone mad, but I want today to restate those same warnings. There are only six steps ahead of us if we keep up our current pace:

First, continued deficits ultimately lead to fear of government credit.

Second, unsound public credit means unwillingness to lend the government money to pay its bills.

Third, the Treasury is forced to print paper money to pay its deficits.

Fourth, the paper money falls like a meteor in value as prices shoot sky-high.

Fifth, the buying power of salaries, wages, savings accounts, insurance policies, and bonds drop to practically nothing.

Sixth, the ruined, starving middle-class take the reins of government by force to bring order out of chaos. This is no "big, bad wolf" story.

CORNS

These soothing, healing corns are made of pure rubber and are safe to wear. Cost but a few cents. Get them at Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads.

All down through the history of time there is not one single nation that ever spent, for long, more than it received without destroying its credit, going into inflation, and ending up in chaos!

Urges Rebirth of Responsibility on Part of Citizens

Speaker Says Americans of Foreign Birth Usually Are More Appreciative

Menasha—Urging members of the Menasha Printers club toward a rebirth of citizenship responsibility, S. F. Shattuck, Neenah, told the group that "American citizens of foreign birth, particularly those from central Europe, have a keener loyalty for the blessings of our democratic system of government than do those who were born into it." The meeting was held at 6 o'clock last evening at Elks hall.

Weaving his theme around six needs or cravings of normal people, he described these needs including: to be a good physical animal, to have, to rank, to know, to feel and to fit.

He rated the craving "to be" in first position and said, "We must have sound health in all its phases including the physical, mental, nervous and spiritual angles to live a growing and useful life."

Speaking of the craving to have he said, "We should have a craving to own a home and to have earning power. Who ever heard of a man fighting for his boarding house?" The speaker then quoted figures showing a glaring weakness in our citizenship whereby but one out of 27 voting citizens in the United States pays direct taxes to the support of the federal government.

Crave Good Opinion
"Every person craves the good opinion of his fellows and desires prestige and status. This proves the craving to rank. A wide cultural reading is almost as important as the mastery of a trade or profession. Every man should master a skill in the crafts, arts or a profession but he should not stop there. He should become acquainted with the work of other departments of the factory or shop in which he works," Mr. Shattuck continued.

Talking of the craving "to feel," the Neenah man said, "Most people think with their feelings, at least they act as their feelings dictate. It is vital that we train our emotional lives to the end that we may get lasting joy out of living."

Concluding his address, the speaker said, "One of the tragedies of the recent depression was the procession of transients who moved from town to town and were not fitted for any kind of work. They did not belong to anyone or to anything. We grow in a true sense only in relation to others. We must belong to a church, to a home, to a club, to a school or a social set. We must learn to fit in."

Safety Islands To be Permanent

Temporary Safe Zones at Brin Corner Prove Successful in Test

Menasha—Plans for permanent safety islands to be constructed at the Brin corner are being prepared by A. E. McMahon, city engineer, according to Mayor Walter E. Held.

A temporary arrangement installed at the corner several weeks ago by the street department has proved successful and seems to solve the traffic problem at that point, Mayor Held said. Under the new setup, drivers will be prohibited to make a left turn to Main street when driving south on Tayco street.

No U turns will be made on the intersection and "Keep to Right" signs will be installed at each end of the island abutments. Drivers who wish to go north to Tayco street will have a safety zone large enough for two cars at one time where they can wait for an opening in westbound traffic on Main street. Drivers wishing to go left to Main street from Tayco street will have to swing their cars to the arterial stop on Kaukauna street before entering the traffic lanes.

10 Twin City Youths Enroll for C. M. T. Camp

Neenah—Ten Twin City youths have enrolled for the Citizens Military Training camp session this summer. The Neenah youths are: Denver H. Groff, Wallace C. Peterson, Robert W. Block, Francis E. Fowler, Donald McDiarmid and Harvey Kocowitz. Those from Menasha are Robert Des Parais, Robert Gazecki, Ronald Merkle and Edward Skibba. Application blanks may be secured from F. J. Schneider or John Holzman, Neenah High school principal.

FINAL MEETING
Neenah—The final meeting of the Men's club of the First Methodist church is scheduled for Tuesday evening, May 18, according to an announcement made by William Marsh, club president, today. A program is being arranged.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone number is 4100. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. This number also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Hold Staff Tryouts For 1937-38 Annual

Neenah—Tryouts for the 1937-38 staff of "The Rocket," Neenah High school yearbook, were held at the school this afternoon and the personnel will be announced by William Marsh, adviser, next week. About 20 students are competing for positions on the executive staff. Sale of 425 books has been set as a goal by the present staff and an extensive campaign was planned at a staff meeting yesterday afternoon. About 300 students have ordered copies of the publication and it will be made available to adult residents of Neenah. With the sale of 125 more books, a slight profit will be realized this year despite the purchase of photographic equipment, Mr. Marsh said.

Kaw Track Squad Meets Neenah in Dual Track Meet

Expect Close Battle Between Rockets and Galloping Ghosts Saturday

Neenah—A close battle is expected to be staged when Neenah and Kaukauna High school track teams engage in a dual meet here at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. One of the most competitive of the times and distances of meets in which Neenah and Kaukauna participated on the same day this week and upon adding the mythical points he found the two squads tied with 54 points each.

Coach Ole Jorgenson, hampered by inclement weather, has had little chance to ascertain what his boys really can do but is juggling the squad in an effort to present a better balanced team. Don Schmidt and McParlon are expected to lead the field in the half mile and mile runs, respectively, because of the showing they made last Wednesday on a soggy track.

Question Timing
Frank Haerli made the 100-yard dash in 10.4 seconds but the timing has been questioned. Haerli also stepped off the 220-yard dash in 25.2 seconds. Edsel Birdsall, an importation from Oshkosh, placed third in the 440-yard run but is expected to hit his stride tomorrow.

Chester Wittenborn, captain, is working in the afternoons and has not had a chance to practice this evening. He is expected to be on deck for the tilt with the Galloping Ghosts but how high he will go in the high jump is doubtful. When in top form he can top practically any jumper in the conference. Randall Runge is expected to pick up a few points in the weight events but Coach Jorgenson admits he has little material for the hurdles events.

Expect Committee to Recommend Improvement Despite This Fact

Neenah—A recommendation that the council proceed with advertising for bids on paving and widening 11 N. Commercial street is expected to be made by the committee on public improvements when the common council meets in the council chamber of the city hall at 7:30 Wednesday evening.

The committee will meet at 1:30 Saturday afternoon in the city hall for the purpose of outlining the number of alternate bids desired on different types of surfacing. A definite decision on the type of pavement to be used will not be made until the proposals have been received. Property owners appearing at a special meeting last Wednesday evening declared they were in favor of a black top dressing.

Word was received yesterday afternoon from Thomas F. Davlin, chairman of the state highway commission, that no aid would be forthcoming from the state now or in the future. WPA officials have already approved the project and will provide about $12,000 for common and semi-skilled labor. The entire project is expected to cost in the neighborhood of $32,800, according to A. G. Prunuske, city engineer.

Disposal Plant At Oshkosh Will Start Operation

Expect Sewage Disposal System to Begin Saturday

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau)

Oshkosh—First operation of Oshkosh's new $305,000 sewage disposal plant will start Saturday, it was stated today by R. W. Frasier, superintendent for the Robert Cramer and Sons, engineers, Mr. Frasier will also be in charge of the operation of the plant following action of the Oshkosh Sewerage Commission appointing him plant engineer and manager for one year. At present, Mr. Frasier said, pipes leading into the plant are closed at the plant.

The sewage disposal plant, under construction by the Charles L. Smith Co., Fond du Lac, is nearly completed. Thursday, part of the remaining concrete slab was poured and only the roof and coping remain.

More than 6 miles of large interceptor sewers lead into the plant. Mr. Frasier said, and pointed out the entire $1,000,000 system hinged on successful operation of the plant. Mr. Frasier stated today that when the system here is completed and in operation it will be one unit of a complete string of similar plants in the Fox River valley which will keep Lake Winnebago and adjacent waters clean and free from contamination.

Plants in other valley cities, he said, now complete and operating include Fond du Lac, Appleton, Green Bay, Kaukauna, and Little Chute. The Neenah-Menasha plant is nearly complete, he stated, and one is soon to be built at De Pere. On the Wolf river, Clintonville, Shawano, New London, and Antigo all have sewage plants and disposal systems.

Neenah—Climaxing the extensive 1936-37 program of the Boys' Brigade is the annual camp supper and presentation of awards at the First Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock and 7:30 Wednesday evening, May 5.

Swing High, Swing Low,
Giants Can't Hit Mungo

BY EDDIE BRIETZ
NEW YORK (C)—Our Jints (National league champions, too) were hitting only (ouch!) 203 for the season when Van Mungo got through with them Wednesday. . . . Dodger fans had a good time chanting: "Swing high, swing low, you can't hit Mungo," as the big fellow breezed his fireball across. . . . Bill Terry made wholesale shifts in his batting order yesterday and the Jints fattened their individual and collective averages at bat. . . . Note to Red Ruffing: You had better come on home while the coming is good, Red. . . . The enemy has averaged only 21 runs per game off Yankee pitching so far.

Fred Perry, the tennis star, who saw his first baseball game in Washington the other day, still is looking for the pitcher's box. . . . When talking about ambiguous fight managers, don't overlook Abe Katcher, pilot of heavyweight Eddie Blunt. . . . Blunt could have had Tony Galento's place on the Hippodrome card Wednesday night, but Katcher demanded more money than the Hipp paid Joe Louis for kayoing Jorge Brescia. . . . Hawi. . . . The little birds keep insisting Paul Dean is being measured for a Columbus or Rochester uniform. . . . New York papers say Bill Terry is weakening on Hank Leiber.

If Tony Canzoneri regains his lightweight crown from Lou Ambers next week, he'll defend it against Pedro Montanez and then head for London and Australia, where the picking are said to be more than good. . . . If Tony loses, he'll quit the ring and become a gentleman farmer at Marlboro, N. Y. . . . He has quite a joint up there. . . . Almost 200 acts, with a 25-room hotel and a golf course in the making. . . . Tony looks good in his drills, but the wise boys say he's not fooling them. . . . One expert who openly picked Tony to beat Ambers said "off the record" he thought Lou would win in a walk. . . . So it goes in the fight racket.

Jack Torrance's flop as a fighter was the biggest of the New York season in more ways than one. . . . Burleigh Grimes, thumbed from two games in as many days, explains his spat with Umpire Larry Goetz thusly: "I told him he was not infallible and he thought it was a new cuss word." . . . President Ford Frich told Burleigh yesterday to lay off the umpires or go stand in the showers. . . . If they keep sending Burleigh to the showers, Coach Andy High may take a tip from Red Ruffing and demand a raise for managing the Dodgers. . . . Wednesday Frankie Martin, Canadian bantamweight champion, protested he was not considered for a title shot with Sixto Escobar. . . . The slight must have upset Frankie no end. . . . That night he was knocked out by K. O. Morgan of Detroit. . . . Ho, hum.

Oppose Japanese Today

San Francisco (C)—The United States racquet men began the 1937 journey today down the treacherous Davis cup trail which long has beckoned them to the cup at its end—but in vain.

They began the quest as favorites over Japan, wily rivals from across the Pacific in the initial zone tests but what they will do against the next anticipated foe, Australia, was something to be guessed.

Eyes were upon America's top ranking ace, Don Budge, who has been off form in practice but blamed it on lack of his specially made racquets. He had the ones he wanted ready for the opening singles battle against Japan's No. 2 man, Fumiteru Nakano.

Jiro Yamaguchi, champion of his country and captain of the team, drew Frankie Parker of Milwaukee for the second singles encounter, concluding the first of the three-day competition.

Weyauwega — The Wolf Valley Baseball league will open its 1937 season Sunday, with Weyauwega Merchants clashing with the Waupaca nine at Waupaca. Practices for both teams have been limited for the last few weeks by unfavorable weather but both squads are in shape for the opener, managers report.

Weyauwega is putting its first team in the field in many years and fans are promised a real battle. Forty-three players and officials were at the organization meeting last night when Clarence Linn was elected president, Lewis Strosheim secretary, and Gordon Bratz treasurer.

Dutch Wall and Doc Munsch will handle the team on the field and players will be equipped with new uniforms through the cooperation of business men. Money also has been donated for other equipment and the league franchise.

Yankee Bats are Almost Silent but Champs Win Games

Have Blasted Only One Homer, Triple in Six Starts

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer
DONT look now, but something queer is going on in the Bronx Baseball Business—Champions, Inc., of the diamond world.
The famous clouting circus, New York Yankees, who cracked about every long distance record in sight last year and averaged better than a homer a game, isn't hitting hard enough to dent a cream puff, so far as extra base blows are concerned.
The Yanks have produced in six titles just one lone home run, "poosh-ed up" several days ago by Tony Lazzeri, and a single triple.
And the queerest thing about the whole business is that the team keeps right on winning ball games! Despite Lou Gehrig's ailing hand and the absence of tonsil-less Joe DiMaggio, their winning streak is the longest of the young season—five straight.
Maybe (and this is only being whispered as yet) the victories are coming because the lightly-regarded Yankee pitching is fooling the boys. Rated, as usual, as the weak spot, the hitters have been easy high in recent days despite the absence of holdout Charley Ruffing. In their last three starts, they've allowed the enemy 17 hits and four runs in 27 innings. Yesterday Monte Pearson turned in a six-hit job, fanning seven batters, to whip Washington's Senators 4-2, the Nat's fifth straight setback.

Giants Beat Dodgers
Bill Terry's Giants bombarded Brooklyn's Dodgers 10-1. Pat Fitzgerald's knuckballer muffed the Dodgers with five hits, but more remarkable were the two homers contributed by the light-hitting Burgess Whitehead, and the one walloped by fat Freddy himself.
The Giants' two chief rivals remained in the thick of things. Pittsburgh's Pirates gave up an early lead and then took advantage of Bill Lee's wildness in the thirteenth inning to down the Chicago Cubs 6-5. Lon Warneke threw an eight-hitter for the Cardinals to whip Cincinnati's disappoining Reds 6-1.
Cleveland's heavy-hitting Indians clubbed Detroit 12-3 behind Earl Whitehill's seven-hit hurling. The Chicago White Sox pounded out 19 hits as Monte Stratton pitched the American league's first shutout, blanking the Browns 12-0. Tony Cuccinello collected five-for-five, one of them a game-winning homer in the eleventh, to give the Boston Bees a 6-4 decision over the Phillies. The Athletics and Red Sox were rained out for the third straight day.

Dizzy Trout in Win for Toledo
Talkative Ex-Tiger Hurler Allows Columbus Four Hits
Chicago—(AP)—Paul (Dizzy) Trout, the vociferous hurler who stood out as the most talkative rookie in the Detroit Tigers' spring camp, is doing his "fanning" with his arm these days for the Toledo Mud Hens of the American association. Trout, sent back to the Hens by the Tigers for experience, wasn't at all Dizzy yesterday as he pitched Toledo to a 9-4 win over Columbus. He allowed only eight hits, struck out three and was effective in the pinchers.

Another ex-Bengal, Catcher Frankie Reiber, was a big gun in the Toledo victory. He had three singles in four trips and scored twice. The Hens jumped on Morton Cooper for five hits, including three doubles, in the fifth inning to score five runs.
The Columbus-Toledo game was the only association contest played. All others were postponed because of cold or wet weather.

Yesterday's Stars

FANCY DAN GETS A BLOOPER

BY FRANK GORRIE
AP Sports Writer
HERE'S a little "spring training" for the fans. With the baseball season under way it might be well to study up a bit on diamond terminology, probably the strangest jargon spoken since the Indians gave up Chinook.

This is the first and last lesson of the season, folks. Ready? Lettuce and tomato hitter—Weak batter, no power.
Fancy Dan—Player who would rather make a one-handed catch than use two hands.
Can of Corn—High, lazy fly.
Play ball—Pitch when batter has two or three balls and no strikes.
Wolves—Spectators who constantly ride a player or team.
Counting the stitches—Batter looking at a slow ball.
Bloop—Short pop fly over the infield that lands safely for a hit.
Percentage Patsy—Player who thinks of his own batting average.
Hind snatcher—A catcher behind the plate.
Fishing trip—Fishing for a curve on the outside of the plate.
Cup of coffee—A very brief trial with a major league team.
Scatter arm—A wild thrower.
Old soldier's favorite—A ground ball that hops perfectly.
Loosen 'em up—Throw a bean ball at the batter.
Chokes in the clutch—Not so good in a pinch.
Shotgun—A strong throwing arm.
Dump one—Bunt the pitch.
Nub—Sore finger.
Barker—Coach at first base.
Screwtop—Player considered a little wacky.
And then there are other diamond expressions that can't be printed here.

A Line of Policy?

Mr. Cummings' letter, dated Monday, shows that the department of justice has been giving some serious attention to the anti-trust laws, and that the suit against Mr. Mellon's Aluminum Company is not, as at first it appeared, mere partisan sniping. The letter shows that the department has been investigating carefully identical bids and other symptoms of monopolistic control in the steel industry, and has found the anti-trust laws inadequate and the enforcement machinery too weak to deal with the problem. There is every reason for thinking that Mr. Cummings is quite right, and that thorough revision of the laws is called for.

But Mr. Cummings might well have added that the anti-trust laws will not be strengthened or respected or enforced until there is an administration which convinces the country that it really believes in the policy of those laws. Not for twenty years since the first term of Woodrow Wilson, has there been an administration in Washington which genuinely desired to maintain and restore competition in American industry. President Wilson made a brave start, but the war forced him to turn to other things, and war conditions always and everywhere breed monopoly. In the twelve Republican years after the war, the anti-trust laws were for all practical purposes disregarded; in fact, the Republican administrations tolerated and even encouraged the development of mergers and combinations on a stupendous scale. A study made for a committee sponsored by President Hoover shows that from 1919 to 1928, in manufacturing and mining, there were 1,258 combinations which involved the union of 4,135 separate concerns and the disappearance of 5,991. In 1929 another 1,245 independent manufacturing and mining enterprises disappeared. New Dealers Openly Sanctioned What Republicans Sought dom" they had in the post-war era, the freedom to practice monopoly behind exclusive tariff walls and to deal autocratically with labor, they are not likely to see again. That Sort of Thing Destroys Private Enterprise, Properly

Nor ought they wish to see it again. For that kind of thing, if persistently pursued, destroys the moral foundations of private enterprise and of private property. If big business men try to practice a private socialism, inevitably they will push the country into some form of public socialism. The real propagandists of collectivism in America are not the Marxian orators but the promoters of private monopoly.

So if they are wise, and if they are loyal to the pledges made by the Republican party in the recent campaign, the enlightened leaders of big business, the industrialists of the calibre of Mr. Myron Taylor, will take seriously this movement to end monopoly and restore competition. It may disturb many arrangements which seem to be working satisfactorily. Nevertheless, they will serve the country better, and their own interests as well, if they start to revise their own policies and come forward ready to co-operate with Congress in strengthening the laws against monopoly and combinations in restraint of trade. They can really take no other course. For the practice of private monopoly in the vital industries cannot be defended, and in the end the people will not tolerate it.

Arrange Series Of Farm Meets On Cooperatives

Schedule Gatherings in Waupaca and Outa-
gamie Counties

New London—Fifty-three simultaneous schoolhouse meetings have been arranged for farmers in this area under the direction of A. L. Kuennig, of the department of agriculture and markets, for the purpose of acquainting them with the operation of farm cooperatives. The meetings will be held in 12 townships of Waupaca and Outagamie counties Friday, May 7, with a local leader presiding at each meeting. Directors of the Farm Milk Products Cooperative, sponsor of the program, have contacted the community leaders and arranged for the meetings.

Prior to the schoolhouse gatherings about 100 leaders will meet for instructions and directions on the procedure of the educational meetings. The first such meet will be at Manske's hall in this city the evening of May 4 and the second at Manawa on May 5. Kuennig will be in charge of the instruction meetings.

Community meetings will be held May 7 in the schoolhouses of the townships of Lebanon, Mukwa, Royalton, Little Wolf and St. Lawrence in Waupaca county; and Deer Creek west of the Embarras river, Maple Creek, Liberty, Hortonville, Ellington, Greenville and Boving in Outagamie county. The entire rural family will be invited to the meetings.

CONSTIPATION CUTS DOWN YOUR ENERGY, DULLS HAPPINESS

Don't let common constipation take all the fun out of living. This condition drains your vitality and enthusiasm. It may also be the cause of dull headaches, poor appetite, sleeplessness. You feel puny.

Why endure half-sick days when you can correct constipation due to meals low in "bulk" by eating a delicious cereal?

Millions of people have used Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with satisfactory results. Laboratory tests prove it's safe and effective.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, and gently cleanses the intestines. Isn't this food better than taking weakening pills and drugs?

Eat two tablespoons daily. Three times daily, in severe cases. Serve as a cereal with milk or cream, or in recipes. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

JAVA COCONUT CAKE

New! Different! Delightful!
And so easy to make—try it

THREE cheers—a brand-new cake recipe! And a new and easier way to make all cakes! Use Spry, the new pure, ALL-vegetable shortening that's triple-creamed for easy blending. It mixes like magic, fairly melts into your other ingredients. Your cake is ready for the oven in half the time. And what wonderful cake it is—light, fine, velvety, rich-tasting! "Actually better than the most expensive shortening ever gave me!" women exclaim. "I'll always use Spry now."

You'll love Spry pastry and fried foods, too—so light and tender, so digestible. Why wait another day? Get Spry now and bake this delicious cake!

ALL-vegetable shortening —TRIPLE-CREAMED!

BUY THE 3-LB. CAN OF SPRY. IT SAVES YOU MONEY—NEVER SPOILS

JAVA COCONUT CAKE

Light and velvety—made with Spry

2 cups Spry 2 cups sifted flour (cake flour preferred)

1 teaspoon vanilla 1/2 teaspoon baking powder

1 cup sugar 1 whole egg and 2 egg yolks, well beaten

Combine Spry, salt, and vanilla, and blend. Add sugar gradually and cream until light and fluffy. (So easy with triple-creamed Spry, a child could do it.) Add beaten eggs gradually and mix thoroughly. Sift flour and baking powder together 3 times. Add small amount of flour to first mixture, alternately with coffee, beating after each addition until smooth.

Pour batter into two 8-inch layer pans greased with Spry. Bake in moderately hot oven (375° F.) 25 minutes. Frost with Coconut Frosting. See what fine flavor and tender texture this Spry cake has. And it's as digestible as bread!

COCONUT FROSTING

2 egg whites, unbeaten 1 teaspoon duck corn syrup

3/4 cup brown sugar 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

1/4 cup granulated sugar 1 cup shredded coconut

Put egg whites, brown sugar, granulated sugar, water, corn syrup, and salt in upper part of double boiler and mix very thoroughly. Place over rapidly boiling water and beat constantly with rotary egg beater until mixture will hold a peak (about 7 minutes).

Remove from hot water, add vanilla, and beat until cool and thick enough to spread. Spread frosting between layers and on top and sides of cake. Sprinkle with coconut while frosting is soft.

SHANNON'S QUALITY CUP COFFEE

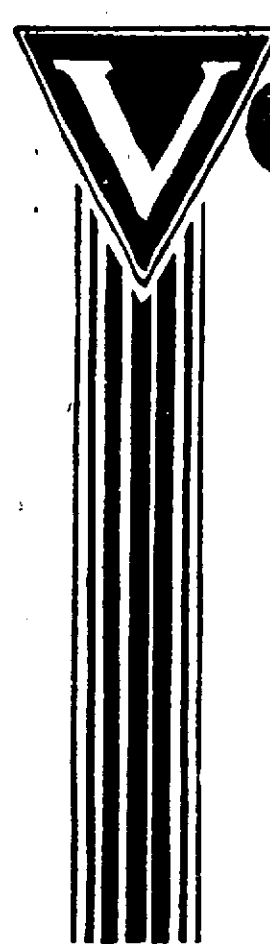

JUST FULL OF

FINE FLAVOR

Quality Cup Coffee has always been noted for its exceptional flavor. The special process used in making this fine coffee reduces the natural acids of Quality Cup Coffees and builds up their richness. It makes a smoother, mellower, more charming flavor. You probably have never tasted any coffee quite so good. But flavor is not a thing to be satisfactorily described by words — you must try Quality Cup — let the flavor speak for itself. It is very, very good!

Always FRESH because it is ground by your retailer when you buy it. Coarse for the pot. medium for the percolator, or fine for the drip method.

 New York—(P)—Stocks stepped into the recovery parade today and retrieved fractions to 6 or more points of their recent relapse.

The comeback was accomplished on exceptionally small volume considering the breadth of the advance. Brokerage quarters said the upturn was partly of a technical nature, inspired by considerable short covering, reinvestment demand, drying up of foreign selling and improvement in lately weak Paris and London markets.

Steel and rails led the revival, closely trailed by farm implements, rubbers, electrical equipments and specialties. There was some cashing in on the final lap and top prices were lowered in many instances before the close.

Transfers were around 1,400,000 shares.

There was a delayed opening in Bethlehem Steel, but it eventually appeared with a 3,000-share block, up 4 1/2 points. It held around this level throughout. U. S. Steel was nearly as good. Santa Fe set the pace for the rails with a jump of 4 points into new high territory for the year. J. I. Case got up about 7.

Well out in front were National Steel, Republic, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, N. Y. Central, Union Pacific.

Wheat Advances Sharply in Late Chicago Trading

Report of Diminishing Kansas Crop Prospects Are Bullish Factor

Chicago—(P)—Highest prices today for wheat were reached in the late dealings, at 31 cents a bushel maximum overnight gain.

Reports that Kansas wheat crop prospects have been diminishing rapidly were at hand, with assertions that unless relieved by rain in the coming two weeks serious further losses are threatened. It was authoritatively stated that whereas a fortnight ago Kansas wheat production promised 200,000,000 bushels, the best estimate now is around 150,000,000 bushels, and the total could easily deteriorate to 100,000,000 bushels in the next two weeks.

At the close, wheat was 3 to 3 1/2 cents above yesterday's finish. May, 1.31-1.32; July, 1.19-1.20; and oats showing 1-1 1/2 gain.

Forward Tendencies In Bond Transactions Given by Friends
 New York—(P)—The bond market today showed a good degree of recovery from the unsettlement occasioned by the mince slump in shares and commodities.

Higher prices were paid for many of the junior and convertible loans which had been most sensitive to the recent outside weakness. Rails were uniformly improved with several of the gains running to a point or more.

Road Commission Distributes New Maps of Highways

Colors Designate National Forests and Indian Reservations

Distribution of the new 1937 state highway maps, thousands of them, has been started by the Wisconsin highway commission, well in advance of the opening of the summer tourist season. A shipment of the new maps has been received at the office of F. R. Appleton, county highway commissioner.

Taking a tip from senate suggestions made when recreational advertising bills were under discussion, this year's state highway map goes in for "color" and "girl appeal," with a beautiful Indian maiden calling to visitors on the front cover of the map.

How much of northern Wisconsin is included in state or national forests and Indian reservations, is seen at a glance, for colors have been used to designate these areas on the map.

With the letting of the first $2,000,000 worth of state highway improvement contracts at Madison last week, the construction season will get under way at once, and the state will resume the issuing of its regular "detour" maps. The last construction map received in Appleton was dated December 9, but this information has been supplemented at intervals by letters from William Hoenig, state maintenance engineer, giving detour and other highway information.

These construction detour maps will be on display at filling stations, hotels and garages throughout Outagamie county, while the new state map will be available for free distribution through highway departments and civic organizations.

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDDEMER

And from there the talk branched to the village history Uncle Henry said he had up in the "barn chamber," which he promised to show George that evening.

Ellen finally drove into town that afternoon with Miti — and, Eve learned later, Mrs. Cleveland. For George came over that night after supper, accompanied by his father. The important father, the chairman of Northern Steel, on whose say-so hung the new publicity department that Denny might get if Miti coaxed; that, like the House that Jack Built, meant that Eve and Denny could get married.

A Game of Chess
The two men slipped into the old parlor as quietly as if they were country neighbors, after the introduction.

"Mother's nerves slipped under her after the fracas," George explained, "so she bolted with Mrs. Power for New York. Dad and I sort of rattled around alone over there. I said I thought you wouldn't mind if he came along. He wants to scratch up a game of chess if possible."

"George says you play chess," Featherstone said. Mr. Cleveland said, sitting down across from the two, "I used to play chess with the love seat before the fire. There wasn't anything to be afraid of about him, because he was simply, as Eve had noticed the first time she met him, George grown 30 years older; the same keen blue eyes, the same slow effortless ways, the same genuine simplicity. But the last man on earth you would expect to be lured by Miti!"

Eve watched him as Peter, who played a good game of chess, hailed joyously this chance and the two settled down to it. A fatherly type; what George would be if he married the wrong girl; curiously patient about his wife in the manner of kindly American men, having shifted his emotions to his business.

She continued to watch him, with increasing liking, through the evening while George dug up village histories and stories of township transplanting from Uncle Henry in the back parlor and Judge read avidly at his history of the Civil war. It was a friendly, homely sort of evening there in the long lamp-lighted parlor, with the hearth fire and the center table, the absorbed chess players, and child sprawled over his book.

There was already a delightful feel to the long old rooms of friendliness and home Peter had hung the curtains for Eve, while she was out that morning, as a delightful surprise, and, spurred by the hope of possessing the north end of the attic when it was empty, worked like a beaver at getting it cleaned up. Eve recognized with pleasure the two graceful backless Sheraton window seats in their faded silken rep, inlaid, curve-ended; he must, she saw, have got Uncle Henry's help with the eight-legged old carved sofa. Though the furnace was on, a fire snapped pleasantly, and Peter's artistic soul had seen to it again that tall candles stood, not only on the mantel, but in both candelabra of the gilt girandoles.

Marylin was warm enough to have draped her long thinness in a shaded chiffon hostess frock, and bound her straight Dutch-cut hair with a gilt band. Peter was white-shirted and white-trousered, early as it was. They looked like a country-house party on the stage. Eve decided, a little amused over her own and George's unchanged rough woollens. George was in his tweeds, knickers and coat, and woolen pull-over; and she hadn't changed her blue sweater and skirt, or done anything, indeed, except brush down her bright rings of hair and set them hastily with her fingers, use powder and lipstick quickly after a hasty wash.

It was a comfortable sort of evening; homely and easy and laughing. At its end Eve felt as if she had known the other three forever. She felt at peace. All it needed was Denny's laughing presence to make it perfect. She wanted him suddenly and acutely; and it came to her that all this Miti business was silly. "Why shouldn't she, herself, speak of Denny to this kindly slow-voiced man, sitting over by the fire, so boyishly intent on his chessmen?"

Not tonight, perhaps, but next time he came.

Denny phones Eve excitedly, tomorrow—he's to get a better job.
